SINCE THE BEGINNING OF CIVILIZATION THE DISTINCTION OF THE INDIVIDUAL HAS BEEN A UNIVERSAL CONCEPTION.

A person's individual personality distinguishes him from all others. Whether the distinction is only relative or is absolute has been disputed for many centuries among various philosophers. To Plato there was no absolute distinction. The universals alone were real. With Aristotle, reality was found in concrete individuals and the universe was only an abstraction. Today, the individual finds his greatest question of identification in the relation of himself to society.

We have been somewhat indoctrinated with the idea that individuals tend to conform or fall into a group because of various reasons prevalent in our society today. Some say the problem exists because of the primary impulse for love and companionship; that no one wants to be a loner, so he will conform to the way the majority thinks, thus being accepted. Many feel that since things have always been done a certain way, doing them in exactly the same manner will again assure success. Others feel the problem is one of a mass education system with little opportunity for expression of one's own opinions or attitudes.

In this year's "Sammamish," we, the 1966 annual staff, have somewhat rebelled against former annual style by presenting the book in a photo-essay style. Rather than being posed group shots, the snaps tend to show the personalities of all kinds of people in the different activities they participate in. We have also rebelled against the contrary belief that the individual has a problem of identification with the group and society.

We have shown that through education and the high school experience students develop their own attitudes, ideas, moods, manners, and sociability. Some personalities we have recorded reflect strength, skills, or special talents such as musical, athletic, or mechanical ability. Some reveal individuality in the way they solve problems, react to disappointment, plan ahead, or act towards teachers, friends, and strangers. Often we have captured a person's attitudes through his indifference, social awareness, or leadership ability. So, throughout the annual we have illustrated in photo-essay style that each person is something unique and individual; not to be someone only distinguished by the group he is a part of.

FACULTY: AS OUR PERSONALITY DEVELOPS IT MUST BE GUIDED.

The Issaquah High School Faculty is one of varied experience and personality. Their unlimited interests, along with those of the administration, make it possible to have a varied curriculum that encourages the students to display their different personalities. With the increasing variety of backgrounds and interests of our teachers, the school atmosphere has taken on a new hue of closer student-teacher relationship. This has not only been successful academically but has also been responsible for the many extra-curricular activities.

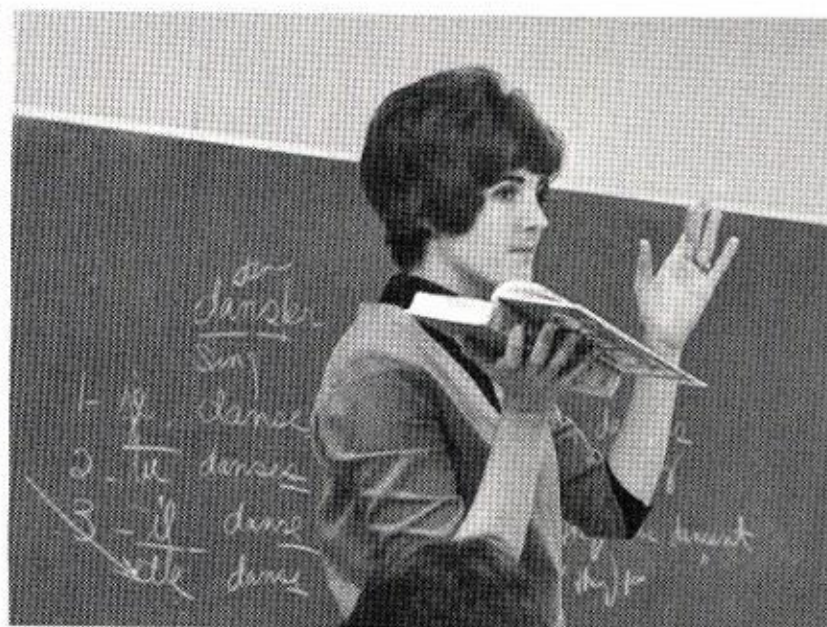

Many of our teachers have traveled extensively in a number of foreign countries. A few teachers have taught in Europe and add their experiences and new ideas to the program. Many younger teachers are still attending school themselves. They seem closer to the real problems of I.H.S. students. At the same time older members of the faculty supply added knowledge and experience for an efficient program. With this balance, our faculty can work most effectively to guide, strengthen and improve our individual personalities.

SENIORS: ACADEMICALLY AND SOCIALLY—CLASS, SCHOOL LEADERS

For the class of '66 your senior year marked the climax of twelve years of learning, growing, and maturing through education and working together. The Seniors' attitudes, moods, manners and sociability bore the mark of past high school experiences that developed maturity. Many, no doubt, remember the time when you first entered I. H. S. into the sophomore whirl of rapid transition and adaption: submission to upperclassmen, all male class officers, purple and gold pom poms, drivers training and the smell of formaldehyde. You remember, too, when you invisioned yourself as a "Mighty Junior": the brain wracking PSAT test, "Chesty" Puller, forever!, tedious term papers, your Junior Prom sweetened with a candy cane theme and the hilarious melodramatic Junior play.

All these past memories, experiences and successes set the Senior goals even higher. It was only during this senior year that you realized the importance of education in preparation for the future. In this realm of high school security, advanced vocational training in mechanics and Home Economics, Business Practices and pre-college entrance examinations prepared the future skilled worker, wife, secretary and college student for the next year. Only during the senior year did you find the opportunity to really express your own opinions. Problems and Government encouraged Seniors to conclude their own opinions about government policies. Washington State Representative Brock Adams discussed current affairs and was challenged by questions from curious Seniors. Only your senior year entailed the whirling excitement of a Senior Ball or Senior Play, or the prestige of varsity players, college preparation, Senior privileges and finally graduation!

For the Senior Class '65-'66 was a fabulous, secure, superior year in which you had the opportunity to display your individual abilities and prepare to achieve those ambitions uniquely your own. Still, as graduation approached you sensed the fear of a dwindling group and realized more than ever you were on your own.

TOP TEN: POSSESS UNDERSTANDING, WIT

Pictured below is Barbara Beckman, Valedictorian for this year's graduating class. Barb will enter the University of Washington next fall, will major in languages, and hopes someday to make a profession of it.

Below, Debbie Beremand and Colin Peters, numbers nine and ten respectively, view their future plans. Debbie will go to Western Washington State College, and Colin to the University of Washington.

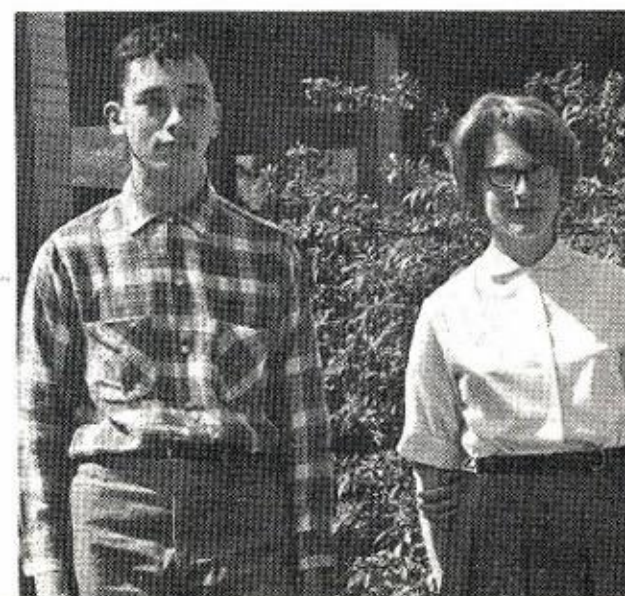

Scott Coyle, Salutatorian, displays one of his drawing plates, significant of his desire to further his career in the field of architecture. Next fall Scott will attend Washington State University.

Discussing future plans, Jerri Brown, who placed third on the top-ten list with a 3.89 grade average, is looking forward to attending Reed College. Anne Barlow, number four with a 3.87 grade average, is also going to attend the University of Washington.

Alan Moen, best remembered for his column in the I-HI-TIMES, fills the number five position with a 3.86 grade average. Mark Haugen is number seven with a 3.76 grade average. Each will attend the University of Washington and views the future with a smile. Cathy Darby and Stan Vasek, tied for the number six position, each having maintained a 3.80 grade average. Cathy will attend Smith College; Stan's plans as yet are indefinite.

SENIOR BALL: SET IN "RIVIERA" THEME

Pictured above is a portion of the outdoor flower shop. Garlands of multi-colored paper flowers added to the magic of this corner of the dance floor. Many hours of hard work created this corner and all agreed, in the end, that it presented a perfect idea of a French sidewalk flower shop. Pictured at the right is Monsieur Eric Leber, the noted French artist who was kept busy throughout the evening producing various masterpieces!

April 21 the Senior Class presented "Evening on the Riviera." Below, happy couples dance to the music of the Allen Bach Quintet. The theme was carried out with a sidewalk cafe, complete with French waitresses. Two French artists sketched throughout the evening and couples strolled through the bright and colorful flower shop. Atmosphere was added by the effects of a glass ball suspended from the ceiling which sent blue flickers of "Riviera" light cascading across the ceiling. The Ball climaxed the end of a wonderful year for the many seniors who attended.

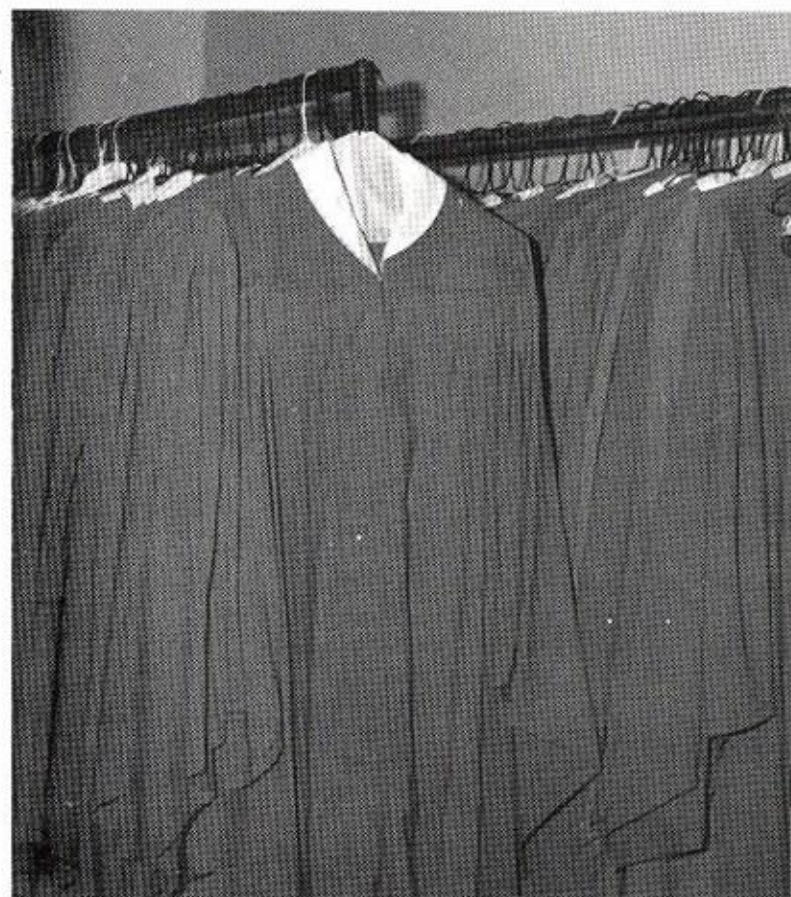

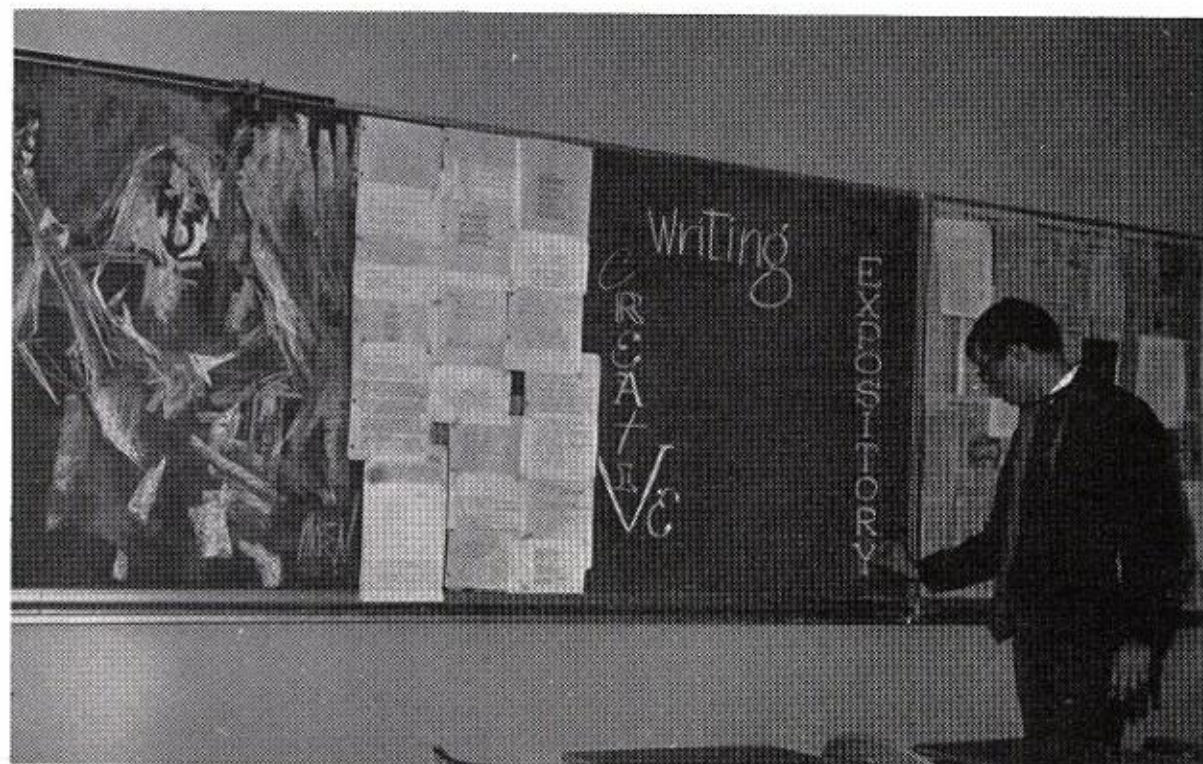

SENIORS PLAN FOR THE FUTURE:

CREATIVE, EXPOSITORY WRITING, DRAMA AS LIT., GOVERNMENT, PROBLEMS, REPORTS, MR. ADAMS, AUTOS, HOME EC., COLLEGE, S.A.T., GRADUATION

Don Graf is pictured here preparing for a vocab test for the following morning. Many students are forced to sandwich in their studies during free periods and extracurricular activities.

This year seniors benefited from two special English courses, Creative Writing and Expository Writing. The courses were devised to cultivate individual writing talents.

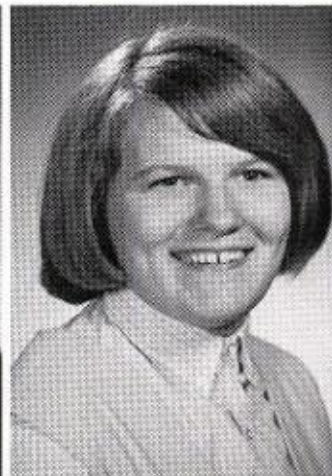

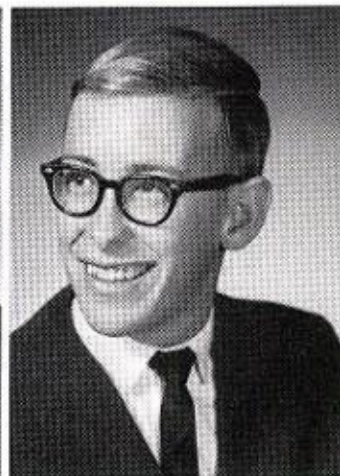

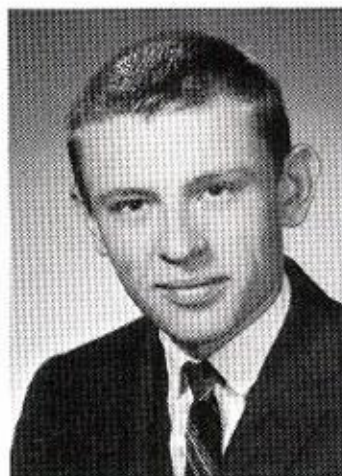

When graduation day finally arrives, this closet will only appear empty; in reality, it holds the future of every senior.

A gentle reminder from Mr. Treat, senior advisor, to "Be sure to get your college applications in!"

JUNIORS: INDIVIDUAL EFFORTS MAKE GROUP PROJECTS SUCCEED

For the class of '67, this year has represented a transition between group conformity and individual expression. The Junior Class can boast of many successful ventures even though sometimes the prevailing feelings reflected the pressure of being "caught in the middle." But, by working together as a group, they overcame many of these circumstances. For instance, although they received Saturday night for sponsoring the musical, the whole class co-operated to make their night a smashing success. The intermission even had it's "punch!" Behind the scenes of the Junior play were those few who worked hard to make their production its hilarious best. No one who attended, Sophomore, Junior, or Senior, has forgotten the December spirit of the Junior Prom with its pine-scented evergreens, floating snowballs, and cocky snowman. The Juniors attribute the success of "Snowball Fantasy" to many hours of individual work in planning and decorating combined with the support of most of the class.

No Junior's day was ever dull or completely routine. Some days were awaited with anxious anticipation while others were labeled "best forgotten!" Some Juniors were frustrated with the mid-morning brain-wracking of the PSAT tests, while on another day they were proud of their pep skit—the climax of Homecoming and Junior Pep Week. Stimulation for learning was achieved through the team teaching classes. Every group either dreaded or enviously awaited the day they could present their "production." More often, though, the routine was broken by activity period or pep assembly, and even silly-soap wars and the lunch-room beagle. As the Junior Class worked together as a group and, at the same time, satisfied their individual need for expression, they became more mature and better able to face the next year.

SOPHOMORES: CONSCIENTIOUSLY ADAPTING TO A NEW ENVIRONMENT

For the class of '68, this year was one of insecurity, mixed with excitement and adjustment. Plagued with curiosity and the desire to be acknowledged, the Sophomore Class plunged right into the activities and added a new spark to the school spirit. This year's Sophomore Class endured graciously many of their traditional pressures: harassing from the upper classmen, confusing class schedules, new atmosphere and new school grounds, more individual freedom, and classes with a greater challenge.

This ambitious class worked together and arrived at unique projects that proved inspirational to their upper-classmen. Among these varied activities were the cupcake sales during Sophomore Pep Week and the parent-teacher banquet. Along with the increased extra-curricular activities, high school presented to the sophomores a more varied educational program. In biology the sophomores experienced dissecting frogs and experimenting first hand. In the language lab they heard their own recitations on tape. As a whole, they met the challenges of the various facets of high school life eagerly and with anticipation for the next two years.

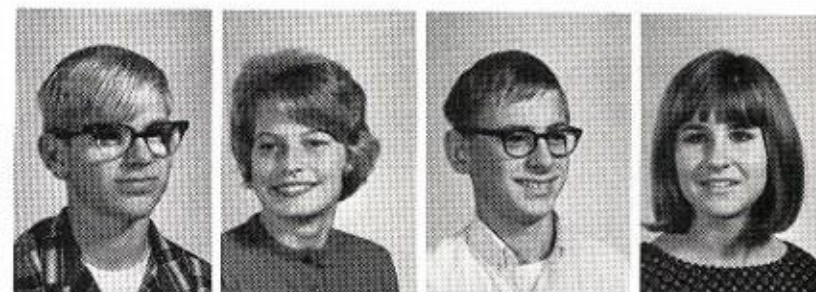

Through each day's activities, students find themselves absorbed in books and lectures trying to achieve knowledge of new ideas. Each day is a new and different experience filled with sorrow, happiness, dreams and trials. As a welcome break from studies, students seek ways to release their energy by dancing, as expertly demonstrated by Gary Strand.

As one of their required classes, these sophomore boys develop their strength by routine exercises and weightlifting. To some, P.E. seemed relaxing compared to other academic subjects.

I.H.S. LEADERS: LEAD AND DIRECT AFFAIRS OF A.S.B., CLASSES

Only through the combined and conscientious effort of the officers can student government function smoothly. This year the effort paid off as Dick Foley, Dave Petersen, and Joan Bartlett led their school through a year of success. Under the guidance of Mr. Wally Tonstad, the officers achieved their goal of new enthusiasm among the students. Revisions to the constitution, instigation of an all-school Campus Day and just generally keeping peace among the student body kept them busy throughout the year.

Individual class leadership is also important if the group is to function as a whole. This year's officers were kept busy working vigorously to make 1965-66 at I.H.S. the best year yet. Co-operation from advisors and classmates made this possible.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT: EFFICIENCY CONGRUENCY, INDIVIDUAL EXPRESSION ARE GOALS.

The I.H.S. Student Council was an active part of this year's school activities. It was divided into four standing committees, each of which fulfilled related duties.

The Project Calendar Committee had two main school functions, Homecoming and the Annual Sports Banquet. This year's Homecoming was very successful in the eyes of the Alumni and the participants. October 8 began with a vigorous pep assembly followed by a tea and came to a memorable close with the football game and the crowning of Queen Robin. Later in the year the Sports Banquet occurred, acknowledging all lettering athletes.

The Finance Committee worked throughout the year to raise money which enabled the school to participate in areas where it would otherwise be unable to.

Community Relations, a committee formed to help in inter-community understanding, was a most active group. Their main projects throughout the year were corresponding with our pen pals in Japan and helping on the student angle of P.T.A. This year they sponsored the P.T.S.A.—Parent, Teacher, Student Association. This made the students an equal member in the P.T.A.

Last, but not least, the Campus Committee demonstrated their abilities as they were responsible for a clean campus and an attractive Christmas tree.

Brightly lighting up Issaquah's campus was the annual contribution towards the Christmas spirit from the Campus Committee. Above Project-calendar, the committee responsible for the scheduling of our important events was made up of Judy Lindquist, Sue Huffman, Melinda Russell, Judy Hendrickson, Mike Holpuch, Dave Kauzlarich, Russ Munson, Dana Besecker; not shown, Darryl Ferguson, Kathy Matheny.

BOYS' CLUB & LETTERMEN:

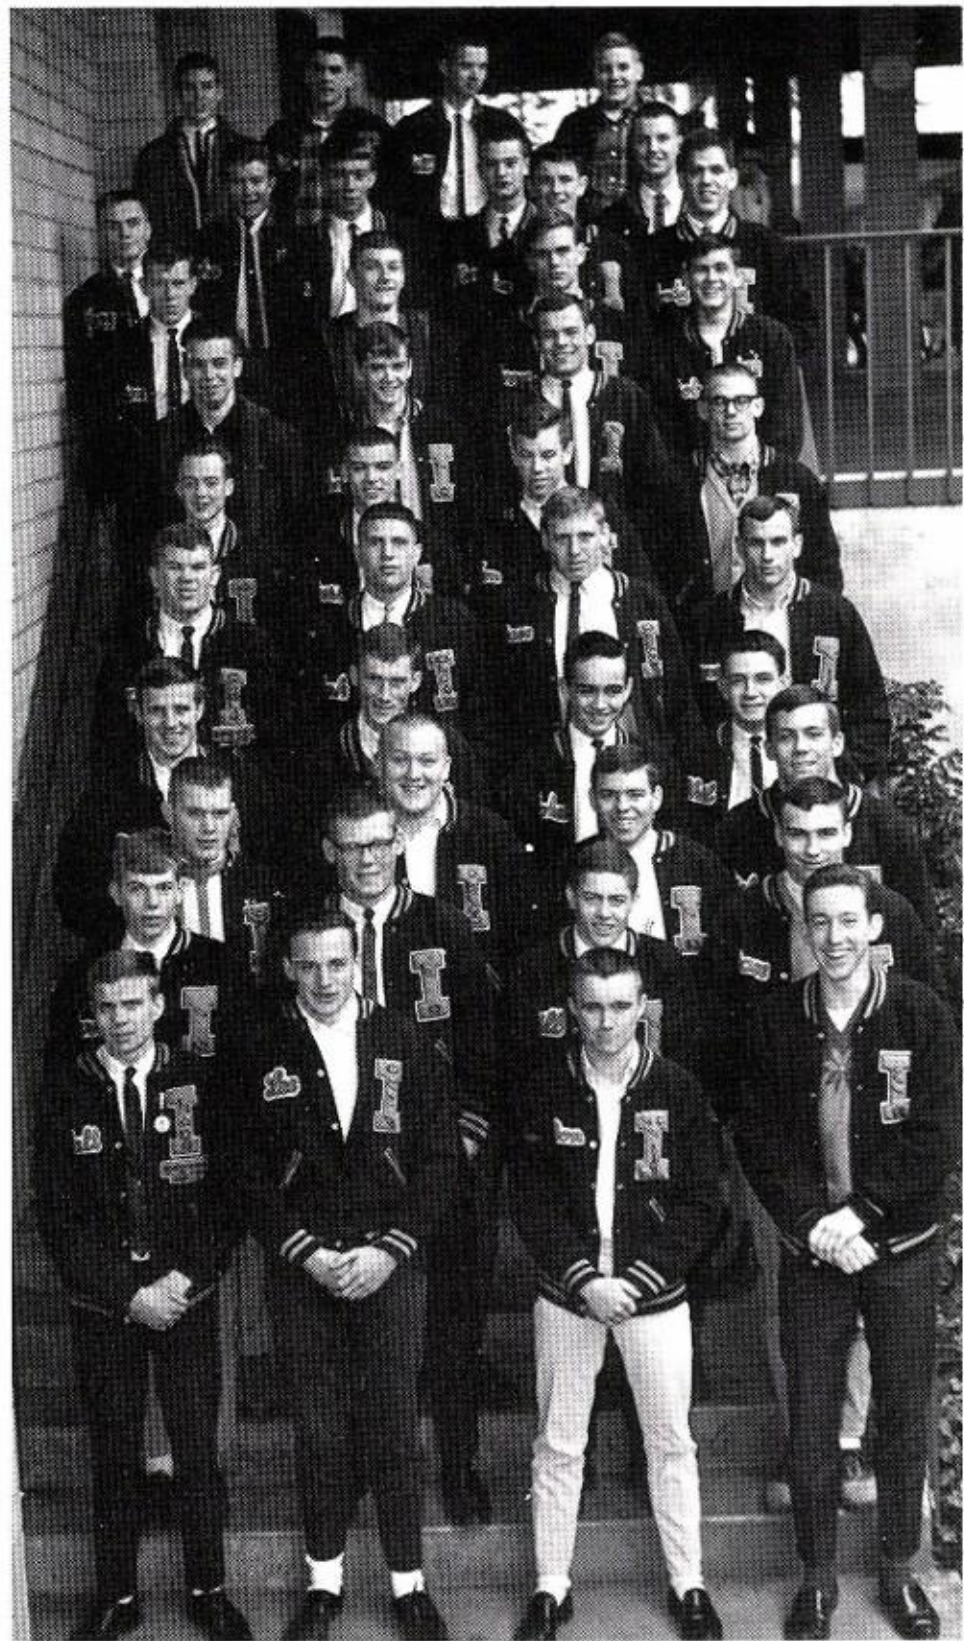

PLANS CULMINATE IN '66; YEAR ENDS WITH ZEAL.

The Lettermen's Club made its first honorary membership this year when it gave a Lettermen's jacket to Yoshi Hayasaki for his outstanding athletic ability in gymnastics. Other activities sponsored by the Lettermen's Club this year were a snow-trip, selling pencils on campus and the Lettermen's Picnic at the end of the year.

Dave Fallstrom and Ernie Jones shared the honor of Presidency with Secretary-Treasurer, Lee Haro.

The Boy's Club was quite active this year, following an extensive program. The highlight of this program was the Mother-Son Banquet. Swiss steak was served, entertainment provided and a good time was had by all. Also, in respect of man's continuing effort to maintain his fitness, the Boy's Club sponsored a lecture by the cross-country coach from San Jose College, who spoke on the new exercise machine, the Exer-Genie. The officers for the Boy's Club this year were Ron Hillis, President, Greg Burnham, Vice President, and Russ Munson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Yoshi Hayasaki, one of Issaquah's foreign exchange students, was made an honorary member of the Lettermen's Club when Dave Fallstrom presented him a Christmas present, a letterman's jacket during a winter snowstorm on the mall.

The Lettermen's Club primary prerequisite for membership is excellence in athletics, but academic proficiency and good school citizenship also are involved. Many of the leaders in student government and campus activities are found in the ranks of these lettermen.

The cross-country coach at San Jose college demonstrates how man can help maintain his fitness with the new exercise machine, the Exer-Genie.

GIRLS CLUB: INCORPORATES ENTHUSIASM TO PLAN BANQUET, RECEPTION, COUNCIL, TOLO.

New events and activities sent the Girls' Club into a year of swirling success. Old activities were given a new zip: the Big-Little Sister Party was held before school started and many girls enjoyed the picnic type atmosphere, along with many picnic type foods. Tootsie Roll Pops sales helped to boost the treasury-everyone wanted red! As we go to press, the biggest event of the Girls' Club year is still to come—the Tolo. The big date is February 19 and plans are in the making.

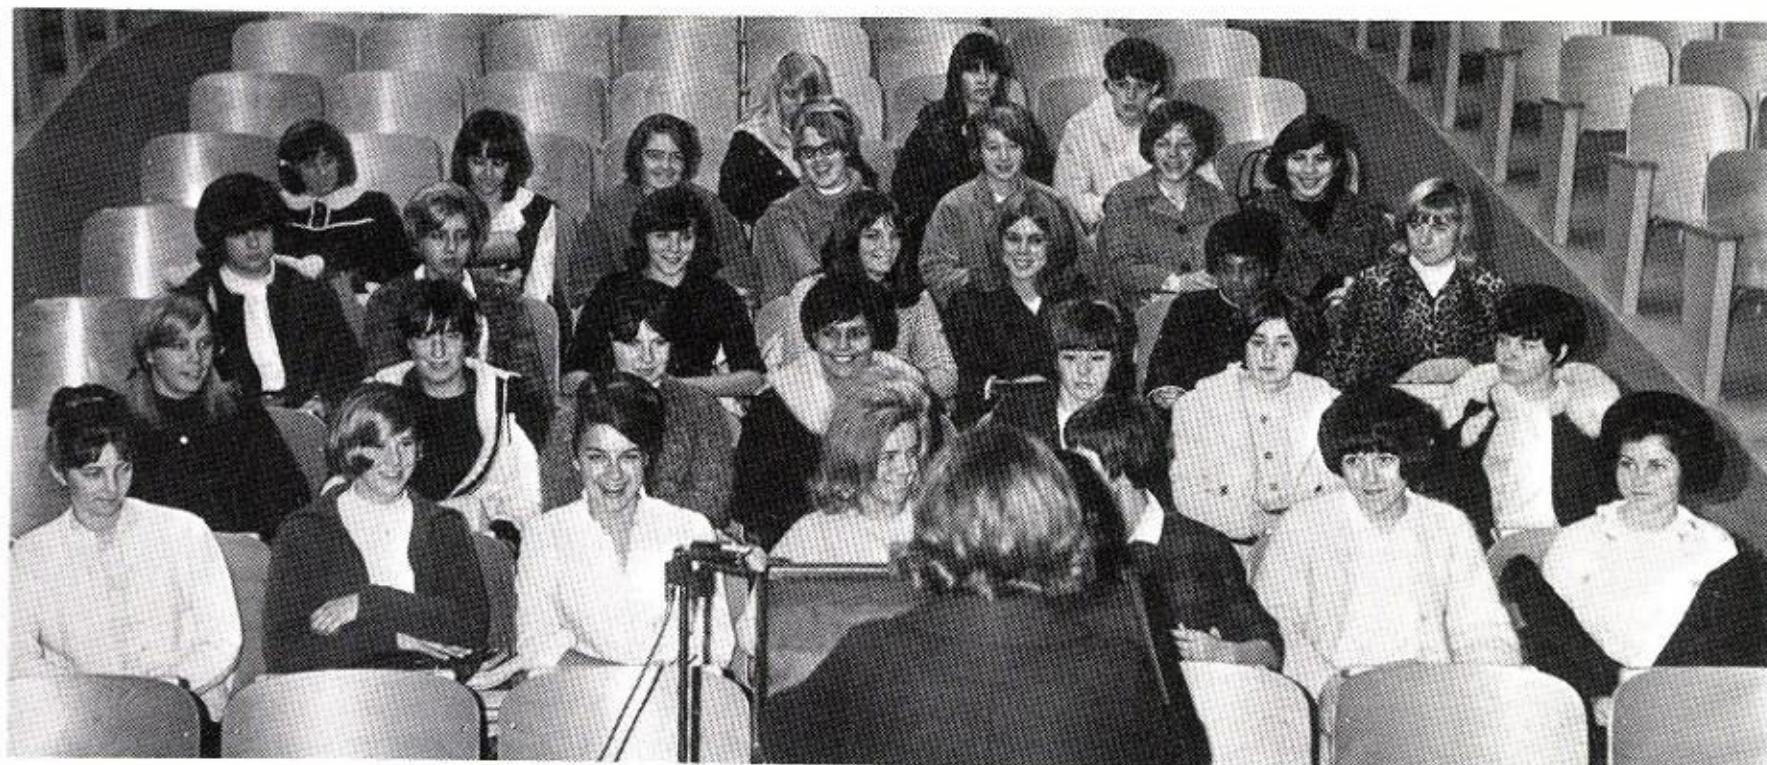

Not only were old activities met with added enthusiasm but new ones were started. October 23 saw the cafetorium filled to capacity as the girls honored their dads along with special faculty members at the Father-Daughter Banquet. Later on, when the grads were home for midterm vacation, the Girls' Club honored them at the Alumni Christmas Reception. Plans are underway for a Girls' Club Conference at Issaquah. IHS officers have invited all Seattle and KingCo League schools. The officers are being helped this year by a new addition to the club. A Girls' Club Council was organized with a representative from each sophomore English, junior history and senior government class. The council is operated in the same manner as the Student Council, and appears to be successful.

With the added enthusiasm of the officers, plus that of the girls, the Girls' Club of 1965-66 proved to the school that a large club can operate smoothly and efficiently.

Happy Girls Club Council meet to talk over plans for the Tolo.

Below: Colleen Dixon, November Girl of the Month, presents the pin to Marilyn Schodde, December's Girl of the Month. Jill Johnson and Joan Bartlett for October and September look on along with cabinet members, Carol Cunningham, Jackie Fasano, Barb Beckman and Michele Frohs.

Girls Club advisors, Mrs. Crane and Mrs. Smith confer with President Jackie over plans for the Conference. At left, grads are reunited with teachers and friends at the Reception.

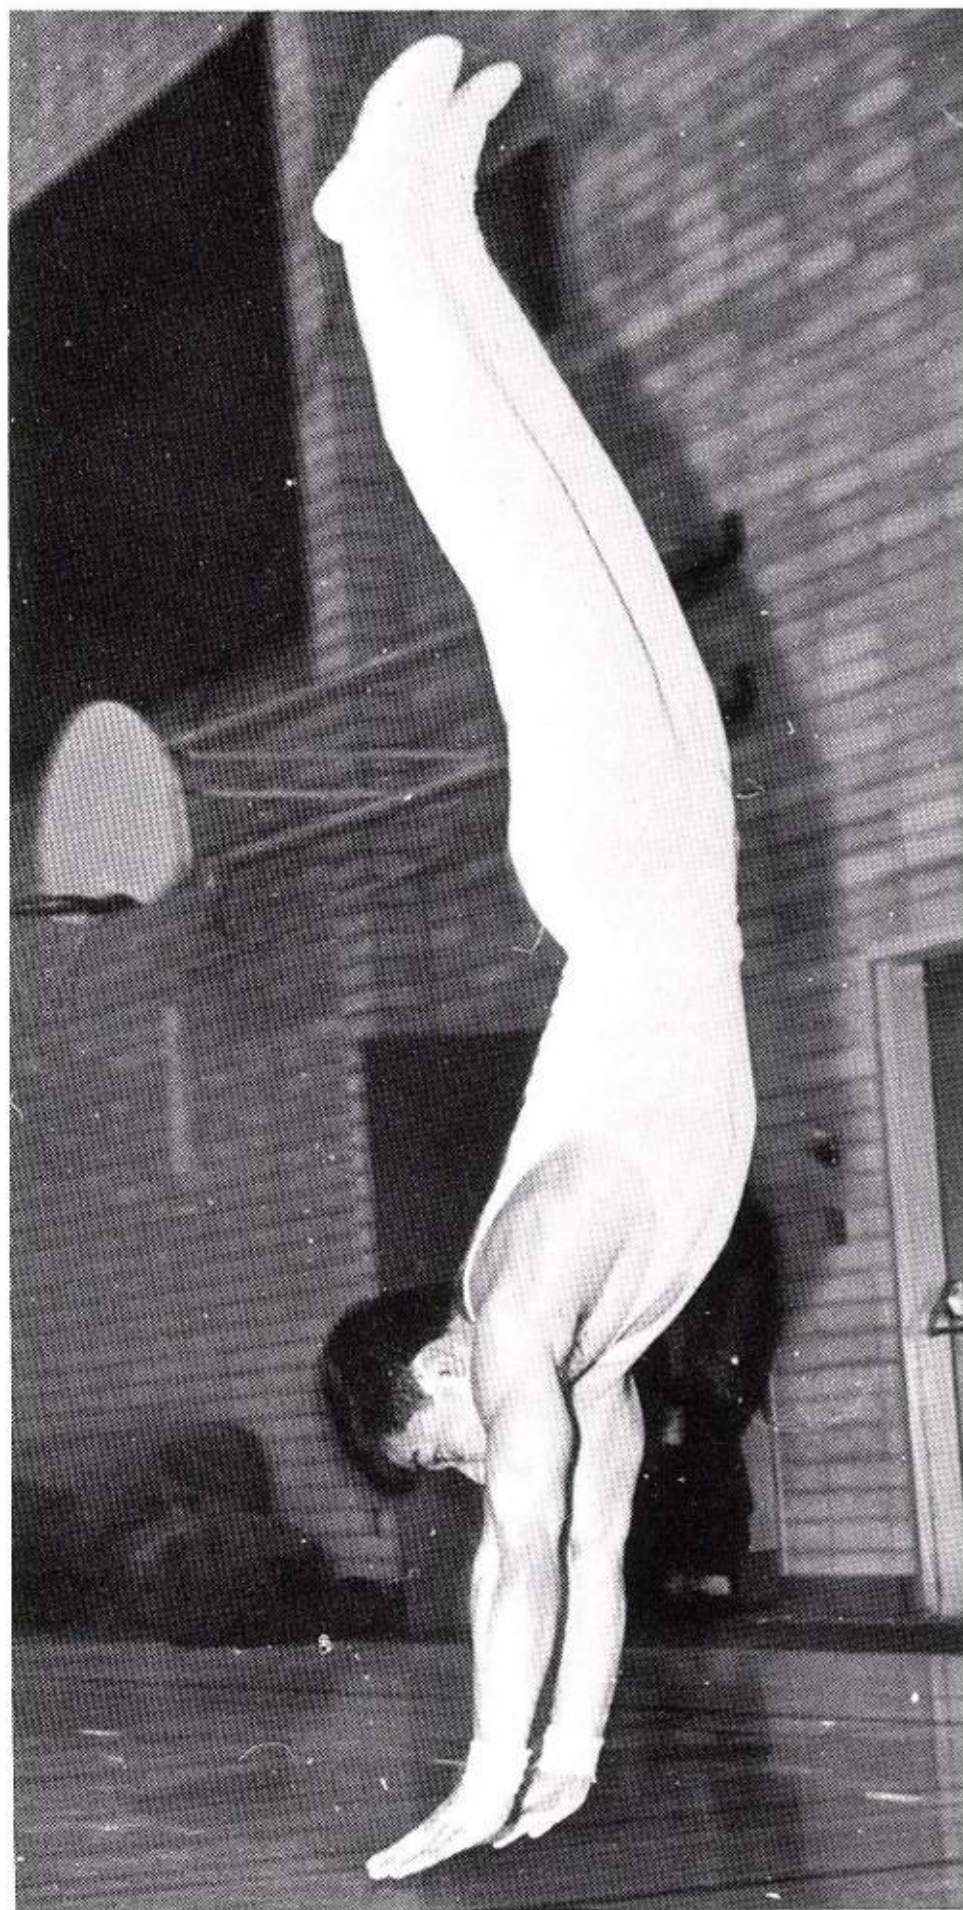

YOSHI & GABI: JAPANESE AND GERMAN EXCHANGES EXPERIENCE HIGH SCHOOL, U.S.A.

Yoshi Hayasaki came to Issaquah High School from Osaka, on the island of Honshu, Japan. His main goal and objective for attending high school here was to be able to pass the English test at the University of Washington and then major in P.E. Yoshi is ranked by the Japanese Gymnastic Association as 4th best gymnast in Japan. Members of our high school and community have had the unforgettable experience of watching him perform his beautifully executed routines. Yoshi likes hamburgers, hot dogs, and Japanese, rather than American, rice.

This year the students at I.H.S. had the opportunity of meeting and knowing the fresh, bubbling personality of Gabi Wuttke. Gabi comes from Friesoythe, West Germany, where she will return for two more years of schooling. She experienced her first American birthday party on January 27. The German Class presented her with two cakes and a silver engraved charm. The Senior Class officers also gave her a party and her first German Chocolate Cake. As another gift, Gabi got to call home and talk to her family.

The Issaquah High School students and our community feel honored to have been given the opportunity of meeting and knowing these two fine students. Through our association with them our individual personalities have grown with the realization that throughout the world teenager's aspirations and dreams are so much the same.

Above: Yoshi proves his strength and agility during a floor exercise routine. At this Kent-Meridian-Issaquah gymnastic meet a perpetual trophy was given in honor of our two schools' exchange students. The inscription reads: "Better Americans in a Greater America." Left: Yoshi concentrates on the questions his English speaking interviewer, Ann Barlow, asks.

Officers of Foreign Exchange Club are Barb Beckman, Secretary; Bob McIntosh, President; and Kathy Darby, Treasurer. Gabi resides at the Beckman's.

The Foreign Exchange Club, Advised by Mr. Charles Denny, was busy working to achieve better understanding and student-community enthusiasm in this first year of our exchange program. By a proposed amendment to student council, a representative was elected to help the student body become better informed of their activities. On February 8th they had a community meeting for ideas and opinions on the future of the foreign exchange program.

Above: Mrs. Dethlefs, German club Advisor, serves as Gabi cuts her birthday cake. Below: Gabi willingly answers questions about her native country posed by reporter Debbie Hastings.

COURSE CLUBS: ANNUAL AND JOURNALISM, AS COURSES, COMBINE INDIVIDUAL STYLE IN PUBLICATIONS.

Checking areas for possible comment in their column, "Jibber with Jill and Judy," Jill Johnson and Judy Hendrickson employ the help of Alan Moen, Dan Deranleau, and Gail Kirkpatrick.

Many times, when a student has signed up for a particular course, he finds that he has a standing membership in the course's corresponding club. Such is the case with the language arts, German French, Spanish, and Latin, Speech and Debate, and as shown here, the two journalism courses, the I-Hi-Times staff and Sammamish staff.

These two classes, in particular, provide an excellent opportunity for those students with the aptitude and ability to write well, and who enjoy doing so, to gain experience in this field and to display not only their literary talents, but their creative talents as well. It takes an alert eye and a perceptive mind, acquired only by experience, to balance a layout or find a new angle in an "old" or "trite" theme. Individuality and originality are the goals; students are taught to think for themselves, reason logically, and encouraged to express their views publicly, not in fear of reprimand, but in hopes of healthy reprisal and controversy. Although the work is considerable, it is the kind of work from which everyone benefits, and not just the participants. Pictured at the left, the paper staff is preparing for your enjoyment, all the final details before sending in for publication the next edition of the I-Hi-Times.

Working on the faculty pages often requires patience and diplomacy on the part of the student, and cooperation on the part of the faculty. This year, however, proved to be exceptional as the staff members came into new relationships and valued understanding.

Responsible for the ads that appear in the back of the book, and taking the annual down payments from students, the ad staff carries with it the extra burden of bookkeeping, as well as the regular duties of a staff member.

Editor Ann McQueen discusses with Mr. Simpson, and her Assistant Editor, Jill Johnson, the possibilities of a layout scheme. It is often necessary to do much juggling of pictures, write-ups, and ads before hitting upon a satisfactory plan.

Often it is necessary for groups of individuals to collect ideas, incorporate them into a theme, and thereby create an interesting story. In an effort to achieve objectivity, advisor, Mr. McNabb, confers with editor, Jeanne Langlow, Assistant Editor, Marilyn Schodde, and staff member, Michele Frohs.

DEBATE: DIVERSITY IN AFFIRMATIVES TO NEGATIVES, CANDY CANES TO CONFERENCES.

The Debate Club, advised by Mr. Gordon Warren, boasted of active participation and a commendable winning record in King-Co Conference debate competition. The ambitious, eloquent speakers faced tough competition from Seattle Pacific College and the University of Puget Sound. They were one of the forty schools that participated at Western Washington State College.

On February 1, the Issaquah debate team played host to Bellevue and Lake Washington High Schools. Many classes had the opportunity to view actual debate competition. The topic for this year was, "Resolved: That the federal government adopt a system of compulsory arbitration in Labor-Management disputes in basic industries." Adaptable, well-read, and versatile debators had to prepare to argue affirmatively or negatively on the proposed question.

The members not only had the opportunity to travel and meet different personalities but they also learned to work together and keep an open mind.

JETS & SCIENCE CLUBS: PROBE, PONDER, INVESTIGATE, STUDY, AND WONDER.

The purpose of the Science Club this year was to bring together students that have a common academic interest in science and to offer them opportunities to pursue investigation of a scientific nature by the use of the school's scientific equipment. Field trips were taken to scientific facilities and research centers in the local area and were quite successful.

The Junior Engineering & Technological Society, commonly known as the JETS, grouped together this year to broaden their outlook and understanding in the engineering field. Once a month, an engineer from some field came and gave a lecture on his vocation, and individual members worked on projects and related their findings at the meetings.

FRENCH & LATIN: PUBLICATIONS AND PUPPETS ENCOURAGE INDIVIDUAL EXPRESSION.

Leading this year's Latin Club and French Club were presidents, Jim Finney and Andrea Erickson respectively. Below: One of the French Club's activities this year included a puppet show to celebrate the Christmas Season.

SPANISH & GERMAN: PONCHOS & PINATAS

This year the language clubs have enjoyed many social activities along with hours of work. In turn, each one has been active in the foreign exchange program, the Latin Club's main endeavor was toward the editing in January of "Vox Latina," the monthly Washington State Latin publication. Again this year the Latin "Slave Week" provided much frivolous furor.

This year's French Club's novel idea was the publication of their paper "Le Flambeau." In addition to this, they were very active in extra-curricular activities. These included their own banquet with a guest speaker, two car washes during the autumn and spring, and a successful pastry sale in January.

The Spanish Club sought to enlighten their knowledge of the cultural and social background of the Spanish-American countries. The club planned a trip to Seattle to enjoy, with appreciation, travelogues and the great variety of Spanish food at CopacaBana, after which they enjoyed the famous flamenco guitarist, Carlos Montoya at the Moore Theater.

The German Club enjoyed a successful Christmas party with the French Club as guests. They also planned and organized a frolicking ski trip to Snoqualmie Pass.

INDIVIDUALIZE AS DO STEINS & DEUTSCH.

In a meeting of the Spanish Club, President Don Graf conducts much of the business at hand. Throughout the year, the Spanish Club held many such business meetings to plan and organize all their various activities. During these meetings they used their knowledge of the Spanish language to express and communicate their questions and ideas.

The German Club held an interesting and most exciting Christmas Party to add to the holiday season. They enjoyed listening to records and singing German songs. Below: Presidents of this year's Spanish Club and German Club were Don Graf and Gary Moore, respectively.

LANGUAGE BANQUET: FUN, FROLIC & FOOD RESULT AS VARIOUS CULTURES MINGLE.

Language Week this year was considered a swinging success by all those who took part in the fun and laughter. Each club participated by dressing up in their native costumes and experiencing the customs and traditions of foreign lands. Many dastardly duties and tasks were performed by the Latin slaves and other suitable events were put on by the other clubs. At the end of the week, the annual Language Banquet was the highlight of attention. All language students were invited to attend in full costume. The night was highlighted by the Latin Club's imitation of "James Bon-dus," a skit portraying the dramatic death of Caesar. The annual slave sale, also, was not to be forgotten. A delightful German Band entertained the audience with polkas and German folk songs. An accordion solo was played by Gary Moore. The French Club displayed unique talent with their Marionette show adorned with all the trimmings. The Spanish Viejitos performed their rhythmic dance and other members of Spanish Club sang songs from South America. In addition to the variety of entertainment, students sampled various foods from foreign lands.

Two active clubs open to girls at I.H.S. were the Home Economics Club and the Future Teachers of America. These groups were both helpful to themselves and to the reputation of the school.

This year the Home Ec. Club made its preliminary plans and discussed the possibility of joining the Future Homemakers Association. This national organization would give them the opportunity to meet girls from many different schools. They created enthusiasm in decorating the school by holding a Christmas contest for the most decorative classroom door. Ironically the Home Ec. room won. These active girls, as in past years, served refreshments to our basketball boys. They sponsored a dance after one of the games and served at the Annual Businessmen's Luncheon. This year's president was Jeanne Langlow and their faculty advisor was Miss Gwen Allen.

On two different days in November, several seniors and juniors went to Sunny Hills Elementary and taught sixth grade classes for half a day. While this proved to be a very rewarding experience for the Future Teachers and the students, it also gave the teachers a chance to talk with some of the parents. At Christmas time they made candy cane favors for the special education classes, and for later in the year they planned an easter egg hunt. To show their appreciation for the gifts, each of the children wrote a thank you note to the club.

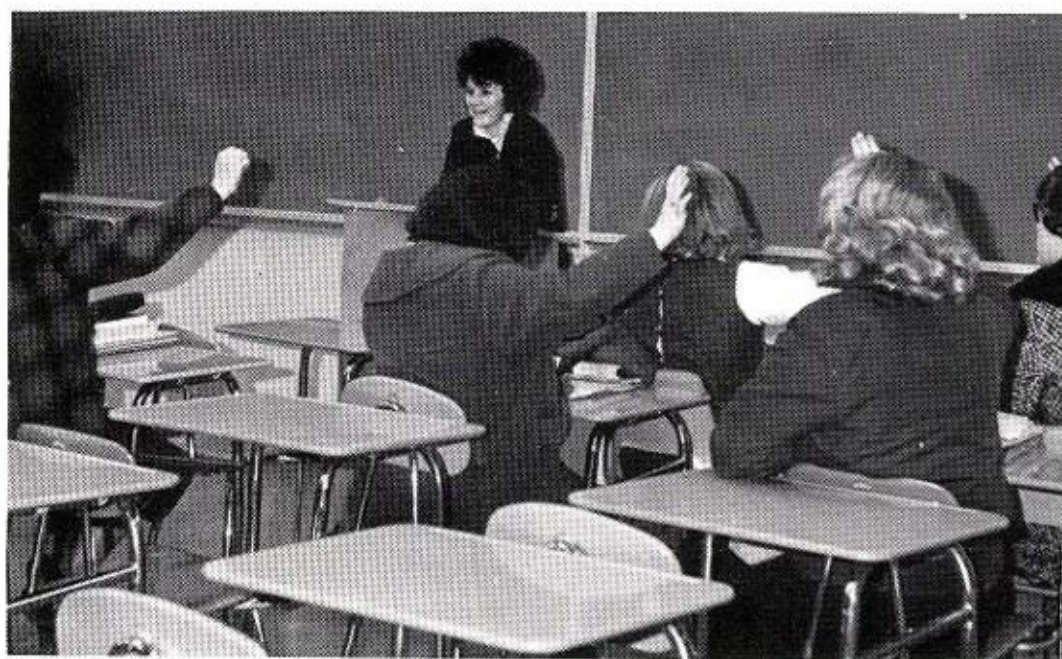

Children at the Day Nursery received refreshments, balloons and a guided tour of the Hi School. Members of the Home Ec. Club were in charge of this activity.

Jeanne Langlow, active member and President of the Home Ec. Club, participates in all the club's activities. Below: Debbi Beremand another active leader, heads the Future Teachers into a better understanding of their chosen occupation.

President Jeanne Langlow calls on volunteers to participate in a fund raising project. The club sponsored several activities this year including a Day Nursery.

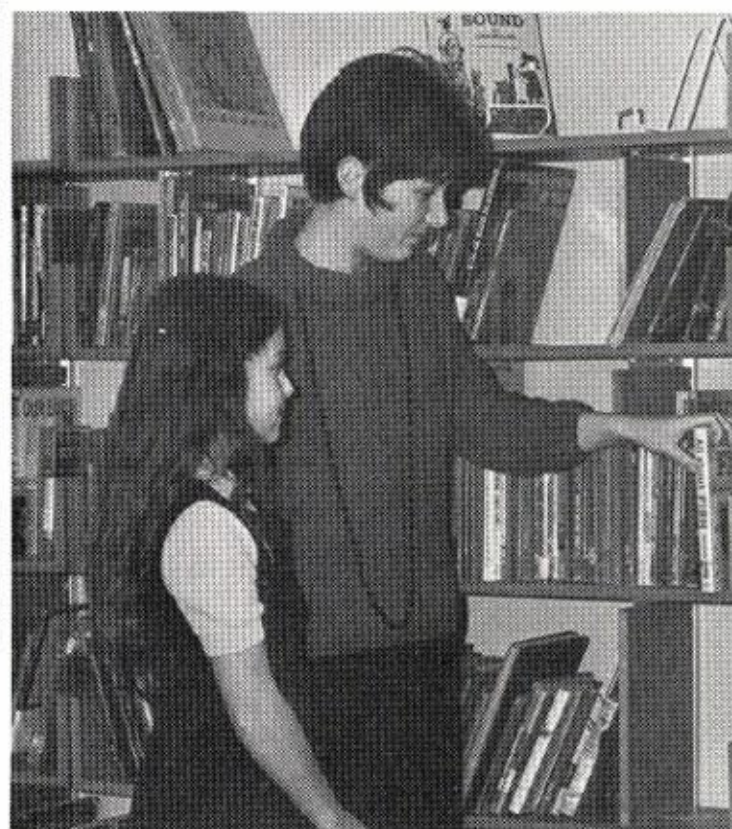

HOME EC. & F.T.A.: EXPERIENCE WITH CHILDREN, HOMEMAKING, PATIENCE, TEACHING.

Jeanne Langlow, member of the Future Teachers of America, acquainted herself with teaching as she helps elementary students at neighboring Clark School. At Issaquah there are some twenty-five girls interested in becoming future teachers.

Shereen Stanton, senior, explains the library catalog system to third grade students as part of her job as a Future Teacher aid. This method of learning about one's occupation proved helpful to the students.

FUTURE FARMERS, NURSES: ACTIVITIES INCLUDE ORGANIZING, SELLING, TRAVELING.

To gain insight and understanding before choosing a particular job or vocation is the ambition of nearly every student; for those girls interested in nursing or any other type of social work it is almost a prerequisite. The Future Nurses of America club was designed for just this purpose, and the girls of Issaquah High School have been especially fortunate in that many have been able to gain novice training through volunteer work at the Villa. Another annual project has been the Christmas clothing drive, for the needy peoples of the world; this year's drive netted twenty-four packages of good used clothing that will be distributed to twenty-four less fortunate families. The members also undertook the successful candy hearts sale, over Valentine's Day, and with the proceeds were able to take field trips and invite guest speakers to their meetings.

This year's cabinet members, seated are: Charlaine Keleman, President; Lorraine Swanson, Vice President; standing, they are: Karen Stanley, Treasurer; and Nancy Graf, Secretary.

Among the money-making projects initiated this year was the sale of candy hearts for Valentine's Day. The success of this year's sale could lead the way for more such sales in the future.

Pictured below and at right, advisor Mrs. Van Tress helps members pack and prepare for shipping the articles collected during the Christmas clothing drive. Twenty-four such packages were filled.

President Steve Baima, above, is about to introduce guest speaker, Mr. Ray Woodside, at the FFA initiation ceremonies held earlier this year. Later, new members were asked to wear paper sacks over their heads, a stunt concocted by the cabinet.

Shown here, Steve Mitchell proudly displays his home project. He now has the choice of entering the young pig in the state fair, or selling it at a profit.

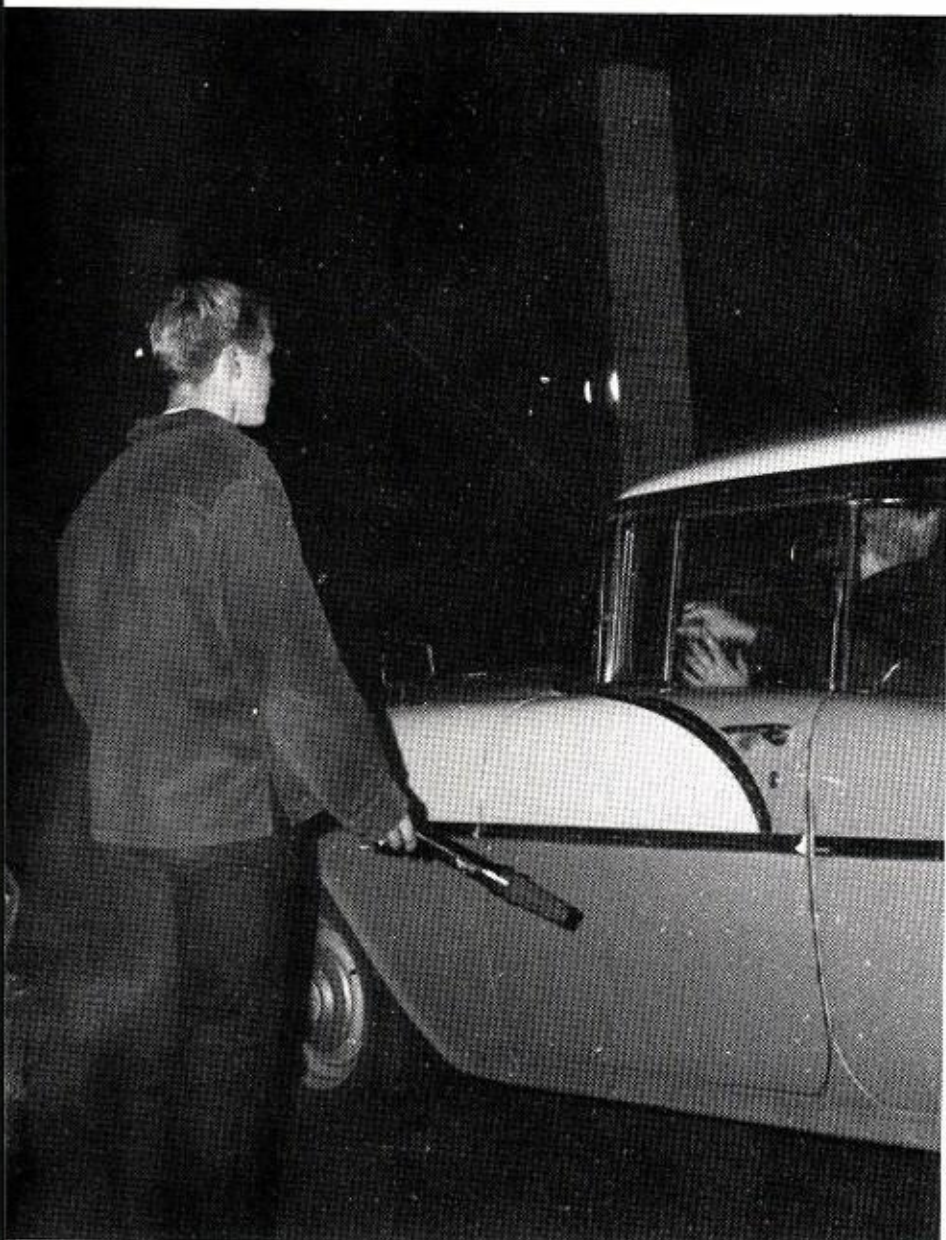

Boys interested in the field of agriculture, many of whom share the possibilities of tilling their own land in the future, make up the membership of the Future Farmers of America club. Under their advisor, Mr. Frohs, the boys concentrate mainly on their home projects, particularly the raising of farm animals or the study of cultivation methods. Many often go further, taking the products to exhibit at state and local fairs, or selling them privately for a good profit.

This year's officers are, seated: Steve Baima, President; John Johnson, Vice President; and standing: Terry Abbott, Secretary; Walt Pedefferri, Sentinel; and Paul Larsen, Treasurer.

KESHANI & SHAMEN: PROVIDE ADDED OPPORTUNITIES AND APPRECIATED SERVICE.

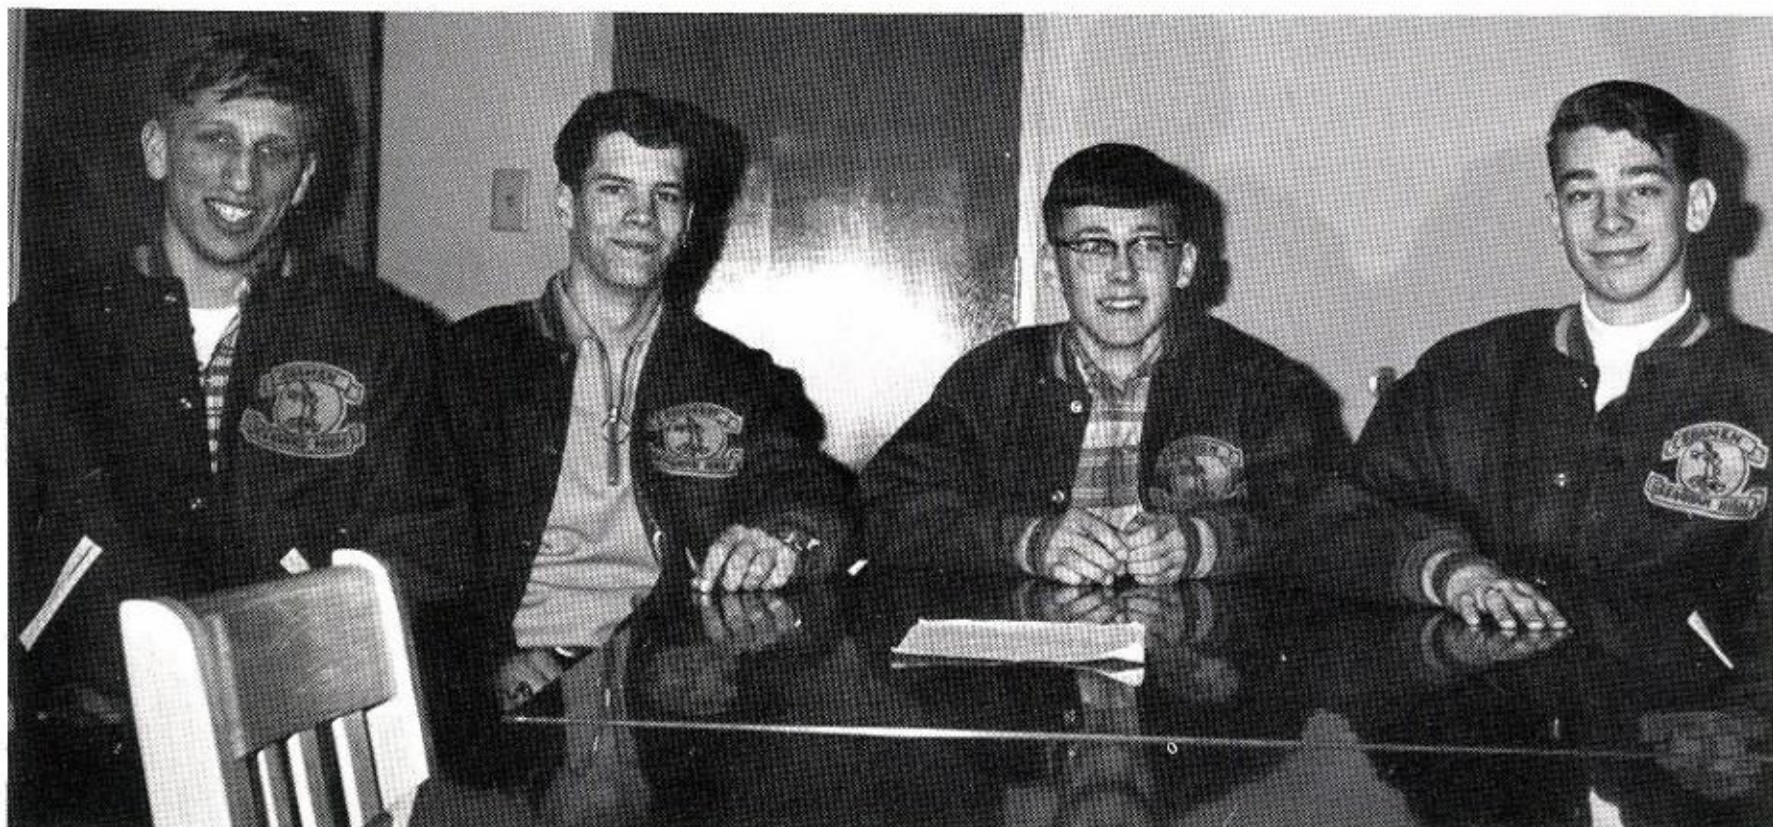

Helping to relieve the congestion from the parking areas, the Shamen voluntarily exposed themselves to the varying elements of our climate. Their work often goes unheard.

Working in every major school project, the members of the Shamen and Keshani have become a familiar sight around our school. Service is their commodity, and, this year, by placing membership on a selective rather than voluntary basis, both clubs have proven themselves not only reliable, but responsible. In view of this, it is hoped that in the future these clubs will rank as honorary to membership.

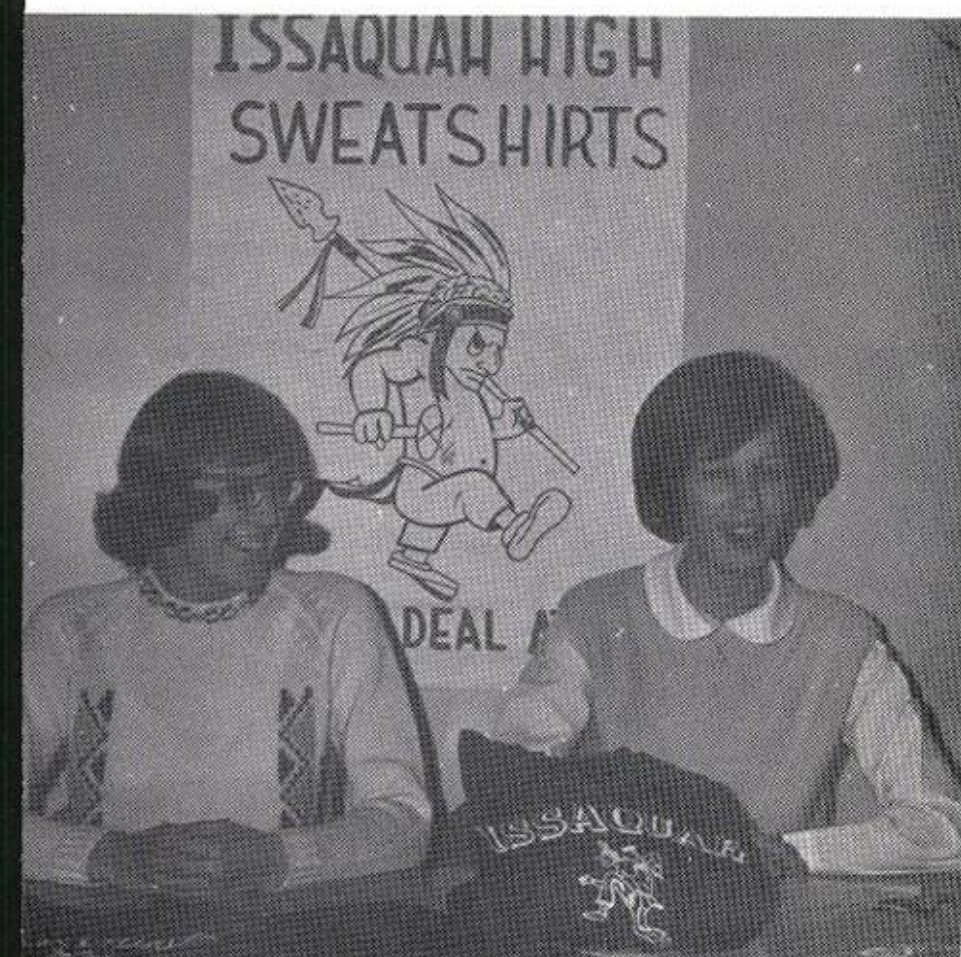

Of the many projects undertaken, nearly all were worked out by the two clubs in conjunction. Perhaps the most successful of these were the donut sales, as nearly every night after school we were greeted by the aroma of fresh maple bars and donuts. Then, too, were the many home games where members parked cars, sold tickets, programs, popcorn and pop, leaving Mr. Tonstad and the coaching staff free of this responsibility so that they might focus their attention instead to the more crucial events of the moment. Indeed, what these two clubs have accomplished this year can be set as a standard for future generations at Issaquah High.

With the capable leadership of Ted Pope, President; Phil Stevens, Vice President; Terry Laitala, Secretary; and Bill Heft, Treasurer, the Shamen club was able to buy their own jackets, a striking purple and gold, and end a successful year with over $200 in their treasury.

Presiding over a new club proved often difficult and taxing, but with Peggy Berry, President; Debbie Beremand, Vice President; and Terrie Lapsansky as Treasurer, the girls' enthusiasm remained unparalleled. The end result is a club whose name symbolizes integrity and responsibility.

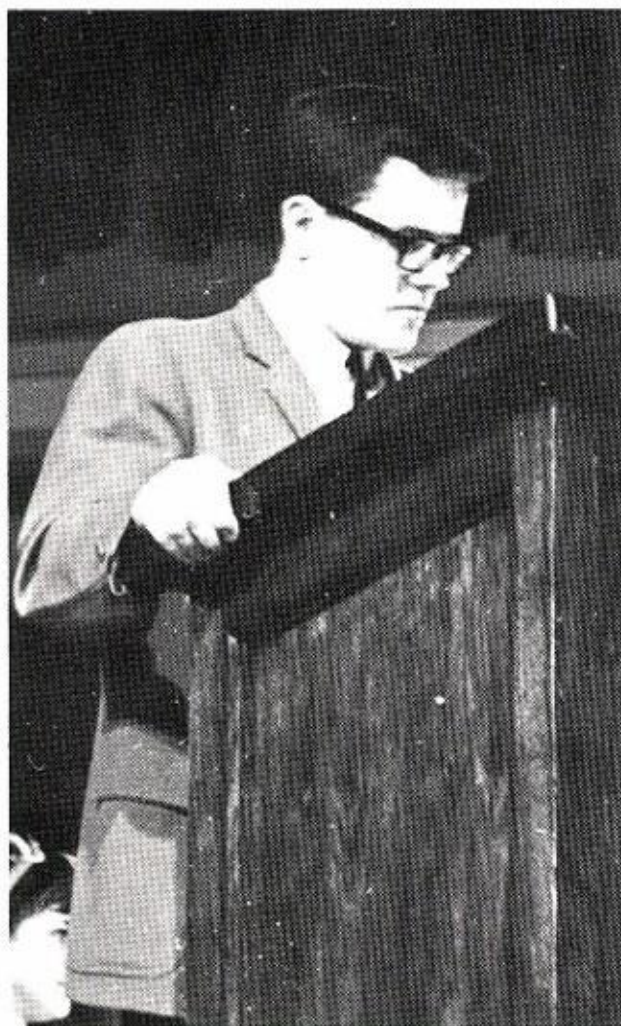

To help pay for the new blazers, the Keshani club undertook many money-making projects, among which were the sweat-shirt sales.

Other money-making projects included the sale of tickets and programs at nearly every home game. A familiar and welcomed sight to hungry students was to look down the corridors and see the donut stand. With the added support of the Junior High students, confusion and chaos reigned until the last bus pulled away for home.

HONOR CLUBS: REWARD PROGRAMS OF SCHOLASTICS, A.S.B. GOVERNMENT.

Above, Honor Society President, Scott Coyle, this year's salutatorian, introduces new members at the initiation ceremonies which were held before the whole student body. At left, the new members recite the goals and objectives of the Honor Society which they promise to uphold according to the standards of the organization.

Honor Society denotes and gives recognition to a group of students well rounded both academically and socially. Each year candidates are elected to the club on a point system. Faculty members chose the new members on the basis of scholastic achievement; each member must have a 3.0 grade point average. A big emphasis is also stressed on classroom leadership and achievements in school activities. This ensures that each member possesses talent, ability and initiative.

Eighteen new members were initiated into the Honor Society, February 23, at an hour long assembly. Mr. William Frederick, an executive from the Boeing Company, was guest speaker. The student body also saw a film brought by Mr. Frederick concerning the Boeing Company, the importance it plays in the world and in the futures of many students.

Below is pictured Mr. Bill Frederick, guest speaker from the Boeing Company. Mr. Frederick spoke on the values that education represents to industry, stressing its importance to the individual student. At left, Debbie Hastings receives a congratulatory handshake and her pin from Mr. Fallstrom.

TRAFFIC COURT: JUDICIAL SECT STRIVES FOR STUDENT PARTICIPATION & SUPPORT.

Crowded parking facilities, resulting from construction in the back of the school, intensified the responsibilities of this year's Traffic Court. A whole new system had to be improvised in the spring to ensure enough parking spaces for those who had to drive. Headed by Judge Dave Petersen, the court passed judgements and punishments varying from fifteen hours after school to suspension of licenses. The Court also sponsored a Traffic Safety Week which consisted of an assembly, a guest speaker and a film which forced the students into thinking seriously of the responsibility of safe driving.

ALL SCHOOL MUSICAL: COMBINES TALENT IN ACTING, SINGING, PLAYING, DIRECTING.

In the finale above, all members of the cast and chorus sing "It's A Great Place To Live."

Below, the two singing leads, Bob Winters, played by John Cunningham, and Merrilee Sommers, played by Colleen Dixon, sing "A Man's Dream, A Girl's Dream."

The third annual all-school musical, "Sky High," by Mel Weiser, was a smashing success when it was presented November 18, 19 and 20 to an audience of students and adults.

The musical, set in New York City, is a story of a common New Yorkers in a time of peril. Everybody is excited about the construction of the tallest building of all time — a 140 story monument to man.

When Franklin Russel refuses to sell a parcel of the land needed, New York is thrown into bedlam. The Mayor's Planning Committee, the City Legal Department and the citizenry urge a Congressional investigation of Franklin's "un-American attitude toward progress." But he won't give in.

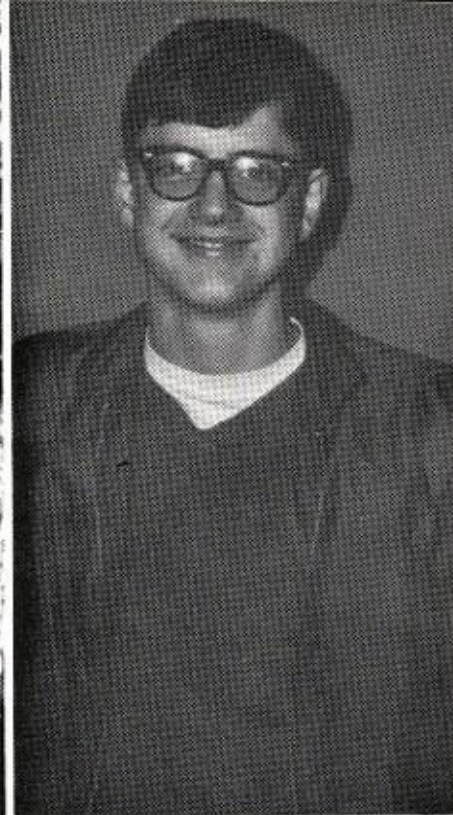

It is riotous trouble for Franklin until his own secret dream comes true and solves everyone's problems.

Tiring hours of determined practice were put in by the leads, band and chorus. Lloyd Odell was student director, Kathy Justice, prompter.

Miss Frances Crelly, with the help of a group of students, was responsible for make-up. Mr. Wally Tonstad and Mr. Bill Klein combined their talents to direct the cast to an inspiring performance.

SR. PLAY: "ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" CHARACTERS—PUNNY & FUNNY.

The Senior Play, Arsenic and Old Lace, by Joseph Kesselring was a great success. The play is set in Brooklyn, in the old fashioned Victorian home of two old maids, Abby and Martha Brewster, played by Peggy Gallagher and Colleen Dixon. Actually these "sweet" old ladies have a basement full of bodies they have poisoned. Of course, the only reason they poison them is because they feel they would be happier in heaven because they were so lonely on earth. They share their home with their two nephews, Mortimer and Teddy. Mortimer Brewster, played by Don Graf, is very nervous drama critic. Teddy Brewster, who imagines that he is Teddy Roosevelt, is played by John Cunningham.

Mortimer has a marriage-bent fiancée, Elaine Harper, who is portrayed by Carol Schley. Trouble begins when another nephew returns. The new nephew closely resembles Boris Karloff. Nephew Jonathon Brewster, played by Alan Moen is accompanied by Dr. Einstein (Herman that is!), the plastic surgeon who is responsible for the mess Jonathon's face is in. This character is played by Lloyd Odell.

With the arrival of the criminals the long arm of the law reaches out to save their beloved Brooklyn from any intruders. Donn Olson, the lieutenant on the force, leads the other cops, Tom Mano, Dave Fallstrom, and Bill Heft.

With the revival of this play, which was the third most frequently produced play last year by Thespians, the production was a grand sell-out.

This year's Senior Play cast includes John Pietsch, Lloyd Odell, Don Graf, Carol Schley, Ron Niemeyer, Dave Fallstrom, Bill

"I just dropped in to see why your lights were on, I thought there might be sickness in the house."

"Teddy Roosevelt, sir. I'm on my way to Panama. Wish me luck, brother."

MUSICAL ENSEMBLES: NONET-PRETTY GIRLS ON T.V.; PIT, DANCE BANDS SWING.

This year at I.H.S. we had several musical ensembles to play or sing at the various school functions. Two bands were formed, the Ultimates and the Rebels. These bands played at several after-game functions and were enjoyed by all who attended.

The Nonets, an all girl singing group of singing beauties, devoted much of their time after school for practice. They sewed their own dresses from their own material. All in all, they gave up many hours of labor to improve their group. In December they sang at the music ensemble and in January they sang for the March of Dimes Telerama.

The pit band was organized this year to play for the all school musical. Much of their free time was required to make this group successful.

BAND: MARCHES THROUGH YEAR, FOOTBALL SHOWS, CONTESTS.

The 65 member Issaquah Senior High Band with the cooperation of director William Klein and student director Jim Bond and all the individually talented musicians performed its way through another busy year.

Many nippy fall afternoons were devoted to marching on the field in preparation for football halftime shows. Drum major Don Graf led the procession; the girls didn't like the wet grass; the football players "practiced" in the warm band room. The band's entertainment was enjoyed even more this year because the spectators in our new grandstand could easily see the clever maneuvers while listening to the lively selections. The biggest of these productions was homecoming night when the purple and gold clad band presented "Celebrity Night." Certain band members revealed unusual "unknown" talents. The cheerleaders even got in the act as go-go dancers!

In December the band, in a combined effort, presented the annual Christmas Concert. The highlight of the evening was Handel's overture to the "Messiah." Springtime proved the busiest time of the year. Among the activities were the King-Co Band Festival and the Band Concert in March. Selections included "La Rosita," "Sentry Boy" and "Misty," the latter featuring Clay Stocklin on the alto sax. Colleen Dixon was featured in the 14th annual Spring Concert on a flute solo. The band played "Concertino" by Chaminade. April 30 set the scene at Tahoma High School for the Band Contest. The result: nothing less than very high ratings for our I.H.S. Band.

As a band member himself would sum it up: "Lots of fun, lots of individual effort, and lots of interesting personalities to work with."

CHOIR: DUETS, SOLOS, ENSEMBLES TOGETHER MAKE EXCITING, SINGING YEAR.

This year's Choir proved to be one of the best we've had. Their performances were as entertaining and inspiring as the numbers they sang. Off and on throughout school we could catch a few verses of favorite songs being sung nonchalantly by members passing through the halls, but it was not until the annual Christmas Concert that we first heard the choir in full strength. Their arrangements of "What Child Is This" and "Sleigh Bells" helped to add a deep and sincere feeling towards the real meaning of Christmas.

After many hours of hard work and much practicing, the choir traveled to Tahoma High School to compete with different schools for ratings. Their chosen numbers "Al-leluia" and "Alma Redemptoris Mater," brought high ratings and much praise from the judges as well as the audience.

In May, the eventful Spring Concert drew near and, as usual, all were delighted with their sparkling performance. Also, an added attraction with the choir was Mr. Klein singing the baritone arrangement of "Ballad for America" accompanied by the choir.

Special recognition and thanks were given to Mr. Klein for another successful and memorable year of excellent direction. All members will cherish forever the memories of hours of hard work mingled with much enjoyment.

The Pep Staff, enthusiastically entertains and assists the student body as it furthers the school's competitive spirit. Pep assemblies, an important part of the Yell Staff's obligations, successfully provided for the furtherance of the school's pep as the sounds overflowed the gymnasium and flooded throughout the campus. Many of the staff's personal services included the making of special signs, serving refreshments to the players, arranging for the chartering of pep busses, and an overall backing of all of Issaquah's teams. The staff consisted of nine seniors, three who were returning for their second year, and one junior. The Pep Staff was complimented by the presence of their vivacious advisor, Mrs. Dethlefs.

The Pep Band, like the Pep Staff, continued the tradition of allout promotion of the teams during all pep assemblies and basketball games. Mr. Klein, masterful conductor of this active group, spent an eventful year directing the band at a variety of school functions.

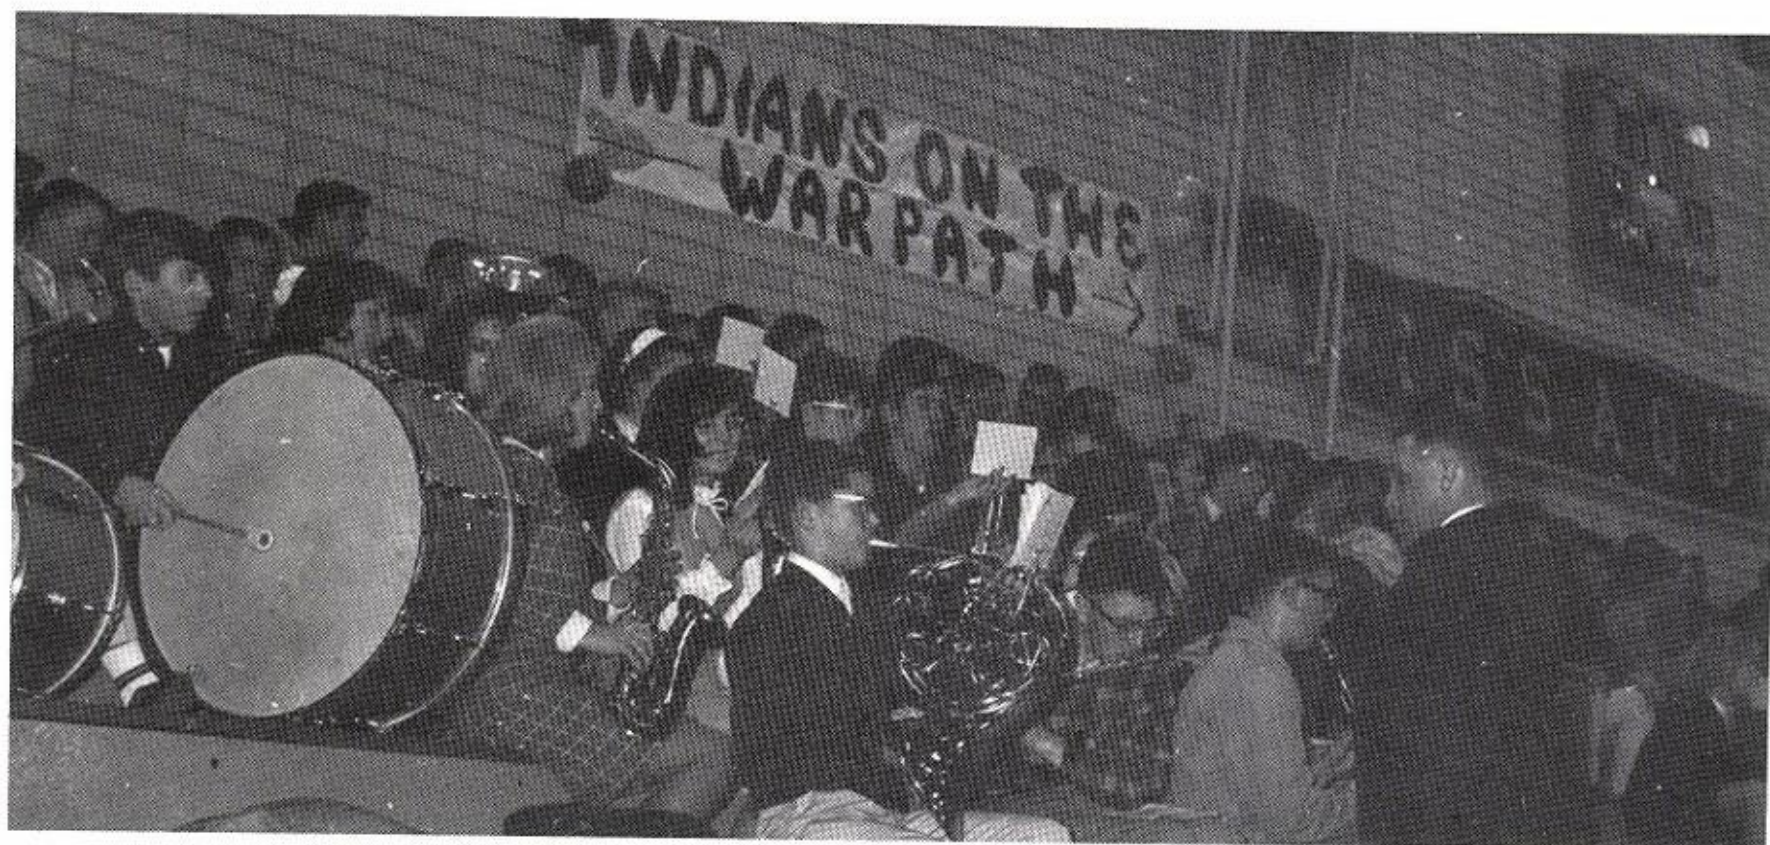

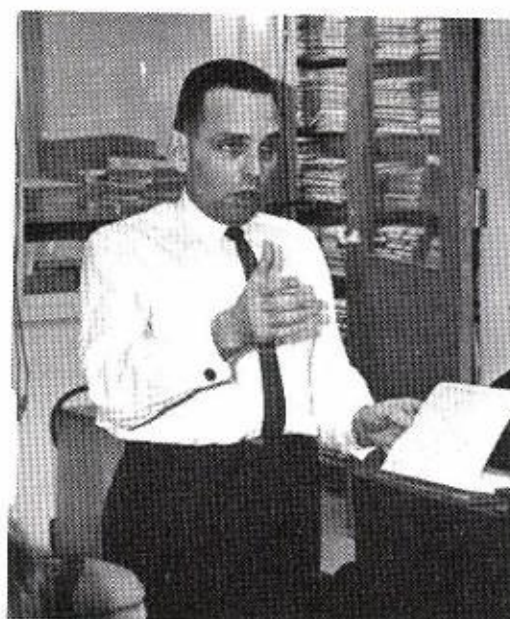

Pep Club, another active organization for the development of school's competitive spirit, is also advised by the talented Mrs. Dethlefs.

Right: Mr. Klein and Mrs. Dethlefs competently lead the Pep Band, and Yell Staff and the Pep Club respectively.

Below: Playing at games and assemblies the Pep Band added to the competitive spirit of the school.

The Yell Leaders this year consisted of Jan Boileau, Maureen Crock, Nancy Kelly, and Queen Judy Henderickson. Both Nancy Kelly and Judy Henderickson lead the Yell Leaders with two years of experience.

This year's masculine branch of the Yell Staff was occupied by Jim Kriner and Tim Draper, both seniors, who carried on last year's tradition of Yell King. Because of their excellent contribution during pep assemblies and at all games, Issaquah is hoping to make this a permanent position.

Song Leaders helped to add to the "peppy" spirit of the school as Cheryl Johnson, Jo Ginger, Queen Kathy Studebaker, and Kristy Catching filled the pep assemblies with their effervescent enthusiasm. Queen Kathy Studebaker graced the Song Staff with her second year in the group.

LABOR DAY: PRE-HOLIDAY FUN, PARADES, BREAKFAST, AND CORONATION EXCITEMENT.

The crowning of Carol Cunningham as Labor Day Queen marked the climax of activities the royalty had participated in all summer. As princesses, Carol Cunningham, Marilyn Schodde and JoEllen Benton joined Queen Pam Sutter to represent Issaquah in the Seafair, Torchlight and Labor Day parades.

Black net silk stockinged legs swung from atop the "Issaquah Belle," steamship float built by the JayCees. During the summer, on a beautiful sunny, early Saturday morning, much to the dismay of Marilyn, who had worked the night before, and much to the surprise of Carol and JoEllen, the '64 seafair princesses accompanied by Queen Pam bounded into their bedrooms and captured them for a surprise pancake breakfast.

Among all the fun, the girls also had the big responsibility of representing Issaquah graciously and by selling Labor Day Booster Buttons.

The 1965 Homecoming Celebration with all its preceding preparations, grid-iron excitement, crowning glory, and rock n' roll fun highlighted the busy fall season. The week preceding the game found classes and clubs joining ranks to promote pep. It also found individuals devoting their talents, some newly discovered, to competition sign painting and skit making. The Seniors boasted and hoisted the "best" sign while the Juniors came through with their "smashing" skit. The football game with Redmond proved so tense some of the mums didn't withhold the excitement. The Indians came through on top showing strength and "showing up" some of those alums that sat in the stands stretching their lettermen's sweaters around the middle. With a "Celebrity Night" theme the band, under the direction of Mr. Klein, held the attention of the packed grandstand during their halftime performance. The crowning of pretty Robin Pickering as queen evoked whistles and cheers from the crowd. "Harvest Moon" was the theme of the dance after the game. Some of the alums just couldn't get into the swing of a watusi; later they got their revenge when they watched their offspring trip through a fox-trot.

The packed grandstands, grid-iron suspense, "interesting" dance, and crowning elation of that night marked the perfect ending for an exciting Homecoming week.

FOOTBALL: DETERMINATION, SELF, TEAM SKILLS SPARK WINS

The 1965 Indian football team fielded fourteen senior lettermen thus inspiring high hopes for a successful season. Hampered by early season injuries though, including the loss of halfback Greg Burnham, and the inability for the eleven players to "jell" as a unit, saw the Indians off to a slow start. Issaquah dropped their first four games to strong opponents by close scores, but, showing much determination and courage, bounded back for decisive wins in five of the remaining six games.

Individual effort sparked many illuminating plays against some of the strongest opposition ever to appear in the KING-CO League.

Mark Luscher, standout Senior halfback, backed by seniors Dave Petersen and Dick Foley, was fourth highest scorer in the KING-CO League. Quarterback John Jarvinen, junior, and Lee Haro also provided scoring punch. Defensive stalwarts all season were seniors Doug Hintz, Ron Hillis, Chuck Olson, and Mike Skinner.

All-out effort and desire marked the 65 Indians as one of the best teams Coach Nowadnick has had. Final standings saw the Indians in fifth place and, due to great defensive spurts, had more net yards than any other team except first place Bellevue.

BASKETBALL: OUR TEAM'S SPARK & BOUNCE PROVE TOUGH COMPETITION.

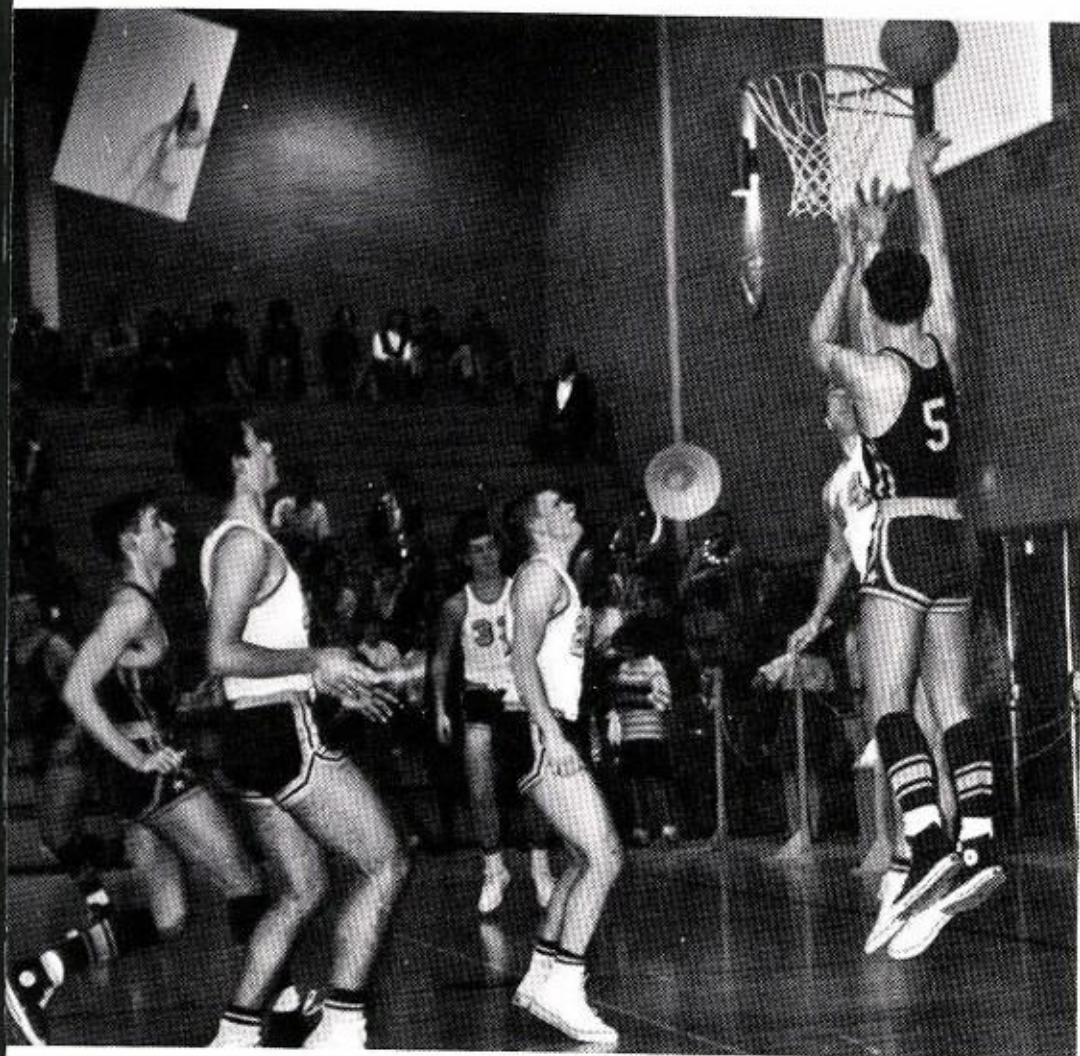

This year's Basketball team was ably represented by talented Seniors, Ron Hillis, Russ Munson, and Lanny Petitjean and backed by determined Juniors, Dana Besecker, Terry Lichty, and Dave Anderson. The King-Co Conference was split into two divisions which found Issaquah in the Northern half with such formidable opponents as Bothell, Lake Washington, and Mt. Si. Against these and other good teams Issaquah finished the circuit in third place only one game behind Inglemoor and Lake Washington.

The play-maker and leading scorer of the Indians this year was Senior guard, Ron Hillis. Ron wound up twelfth highest point maker in the King-Co Conference with 11.7 points per game. Seniors Russ Munson and Lanny Petitjean and Junior Terry Lichty all contributed 7.5 points per game throughout the course of the season.

The biggest disappointment of the season came in the final game which Issaquah desperately needed to win to qualify for the King-Co Tourney. Issaquah lost 61-60 in a game that bounced back and forth favoring one team and then the other all evening. After the game, Head Coach Wally Soland expressed his gratification and appreciation for the desire and drive shown by the Indians all year.

CROSS COUNTRY: MILES OF RUNNING PROVE BOYS ARE INEXHAUSTIBLE.

Cross Country, a relatively new sport at Issaquah High School, proved itself both strenuous and challenging to both the runners and their coaches, Mr. Kenneth Ruud. Coach Ruud and his team finished the season in third place and also placed high in the state meet. Comprising the nucleus of the stout Issaquah team were many returning lettermen. These members were highlighted by the team's leading scorer, Bob Brodel, and Senior lettermen with outstanding positions, Tom Harle and Phil Davis.

Each year the interest in the new sport increases and in a few years, after our team has more chance to grow and develop, they will probably prove a strong competitor for football enthusiasts as wrestling and gymnastics do to basketball on the winter scene. Coach Ruud predicts an active year in '66-'67 with many underclassmen letter winners returning.

WRESTLING: KING-CO CHAMPIONS CLINCH TOURNAMENT COMPETITION

Living up to every pre-season expectation in King-Co competition was the 1966 Issaquah Wrestling Team. The twelve member squad was paced by nine experienced returning lettermen: Walt Pedferri, Tom Boyden, Dave Dalbotten, Dick Foley, Mark Luscher, Dave Petersen, Chuck Olson, Bill Finney, and Dave Krier. First year letter winners were Ricky Knights, Bill Bakamus, Randy Pickering, and Steve Mitchell. Some fans may have been dubious about Coach Roger Wilson's prediction about this year's prospects, "Potentially we have the best team that we've ever had here. If our attitude and conditioning develop as they should we have a good chance for the Conference Championship." But all doubts were cast aside as our team marched straight to the top of the King-Co ladder-undefeated in league competition. Not being completely satisfied with just the King-Co title, Coach "Whirlpool" Wilson and his grapplers realized another goal when they became undisputed tournament champions — with the second place team 31 points down. Seven of the nine who placed in tourney competition were champions in their weight division. As a result of our sub-district success, eight wrestlers qualified for the District Meet at Puyallup. At this meet Issaquah hailed another champ, Walt Pedferri, who after winning 20 consecutive matches became runner-up in the State Tournament competition at Ellensburg. Other members who qualified for State were Dave Petersen, 3rd; Chuck Olson, 4th; and Mark Luscher, 5th. Out of 48 schools in tourney competition, Issaquah placed fourth — A very commendable record for Coach Wilson and our '66 wrestling team!

At right: The squad rushes out to congratulate a weary but triumphant senior wrestler, Mark Lusher. Mark, who wrestled in the 154 weight division, ended the season as Kingco Conference champ in his weight. He went on and had a very good showing at the State Meet. Below is senior Tom Boyden, who is maneuvering his opponent for a takedown. Tom who wrestled at 175 pounds, also was Kingco Conference champ in his weight division. Both Mark and Tom were among Issaquah's top performers during our most successful wrestling season.

Below: Senior Dave Petersen, has maneuvered his man into the almost impossible-to-break "grape vine." Such skill as Dave possesses come only from hours of difficult and strenuous practice. But such practice paid off, for Dave won his weight division at Conference and went on to the State Meet.

Far below: Senior Dave Dalbotten, who wrestled in the 133 pound weight division, had a most impressive conference grappling record, never once being defeated. In this picture, Dave is attempting to turn his opponent on his side so he can begin to work for his pin.

Above, Walt Pediferri, senior wrestler in the 112 pound weight division, finished second in the state, the highest placing of Issaquah's wrestlers.

Left: Junior wrestler Bill Finney is in the position he maintained most of the Kingco wrestling circuit, that of being on top. Although he was edged out of the conference finals, Bill always turned in an impressive performance in the season meets. Bill wrestled in the 127 pound weight division. He is shown here with a head-lock after completing his takedown. Below is junior Dave Krier who wrestled in the 194 pound weight division. He finished a strong second at conference.

record, their lone loss coming in a close match with Bellevue. Our J. V.'s have always been strong contenders and their over-all win-lost record from the previous three years points this out. They have had 37 wins, 15 losses, 3 ties. Since the J. V.'s is the stepping-stone to the Varsity, we can see the reason for their success.

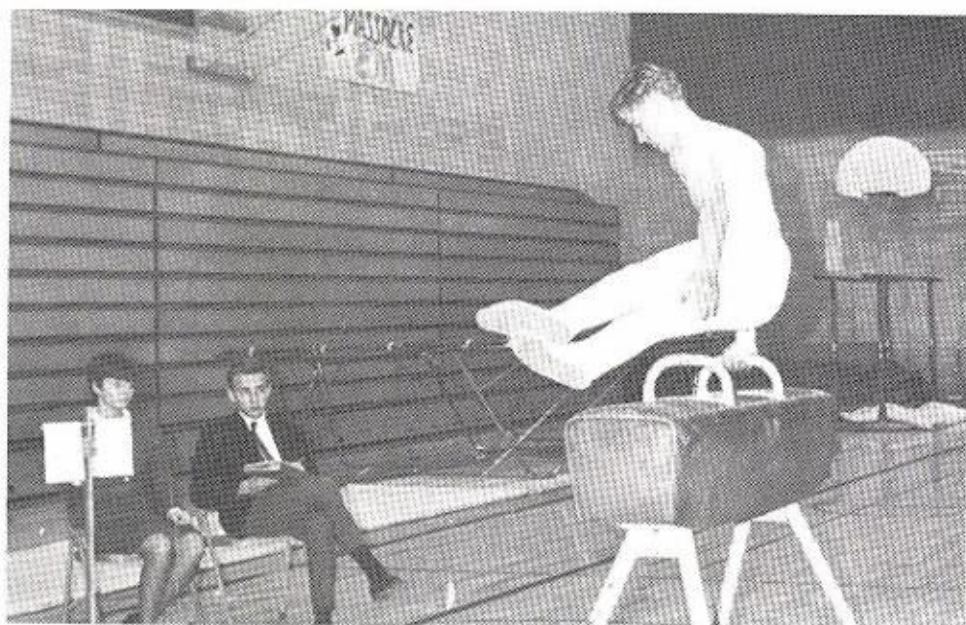

GYMNASTICS: UNDEFEATED LEAGUE TEAM PLACES SECOND AT STATE

Though Gymnastics is a fairly new sport to Issaquah, I.H.S. has come through with a winning team and this year is no exception. Coached by Mr. Denny, former flying rings Olympic champ, the team has progressed to such an extent to win second place in the State Meet held at the Univeristy of Washington.

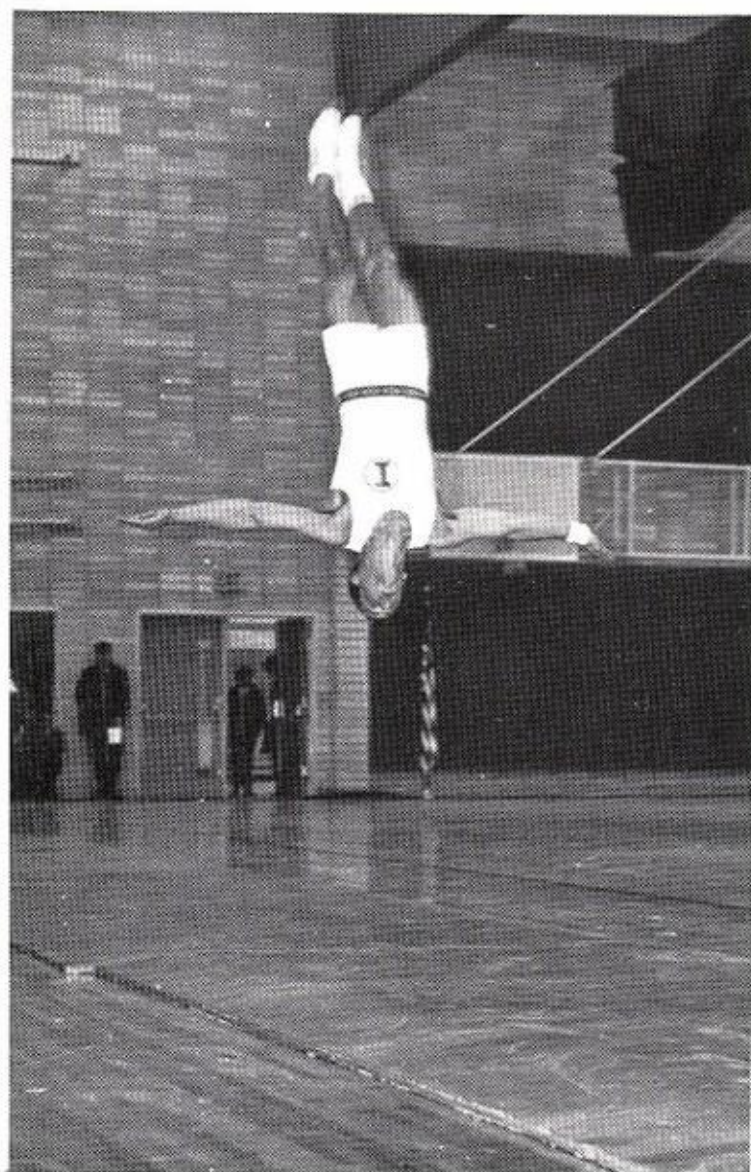

Gymastics, a sport consisting of strength, stamina, and skill, was conquered and controlled by our gymnasts as they used these skills to place high in the State meet and prove themselves both graceful and agile.

The team was supported and coached by their honorary member, Yoshi Hayasaki. Yoshi graced the team with his advanced routines as he practiced for a berth on the U.S. Olympic team in the coming years.

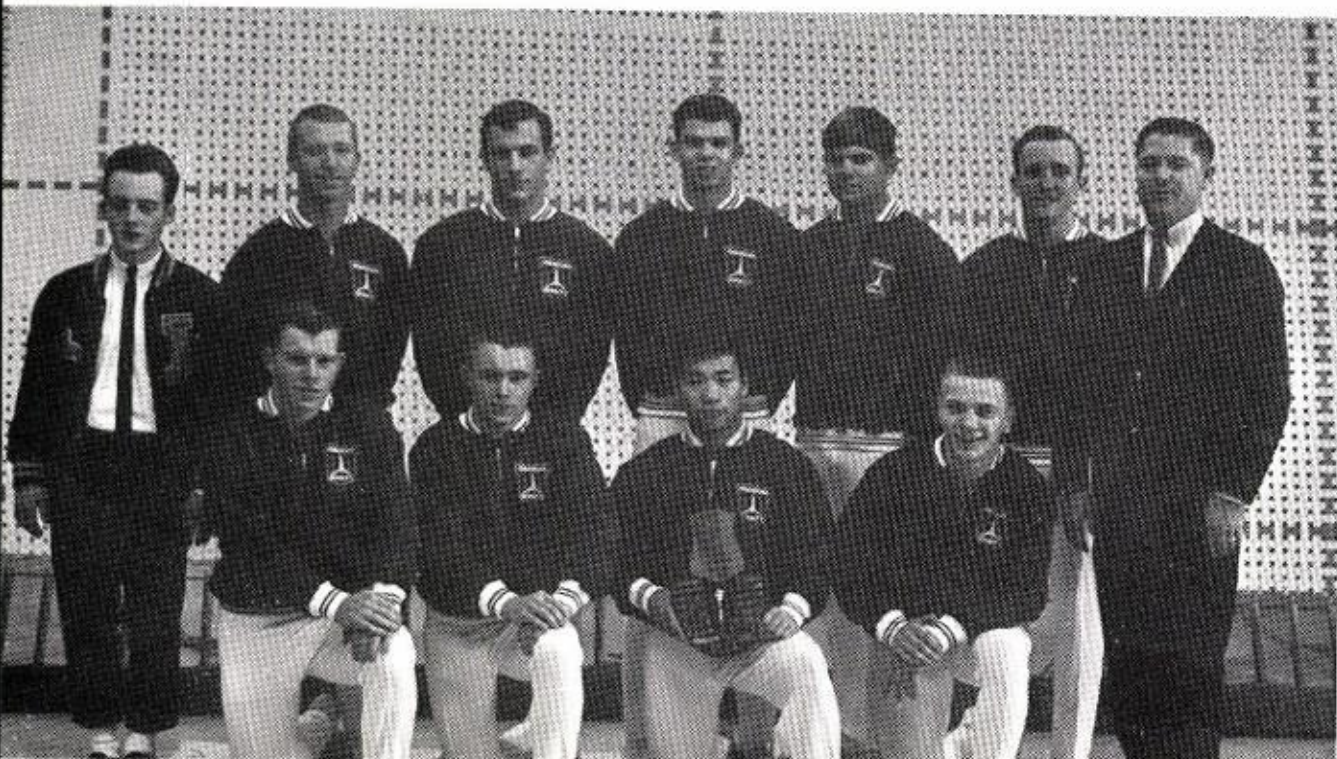

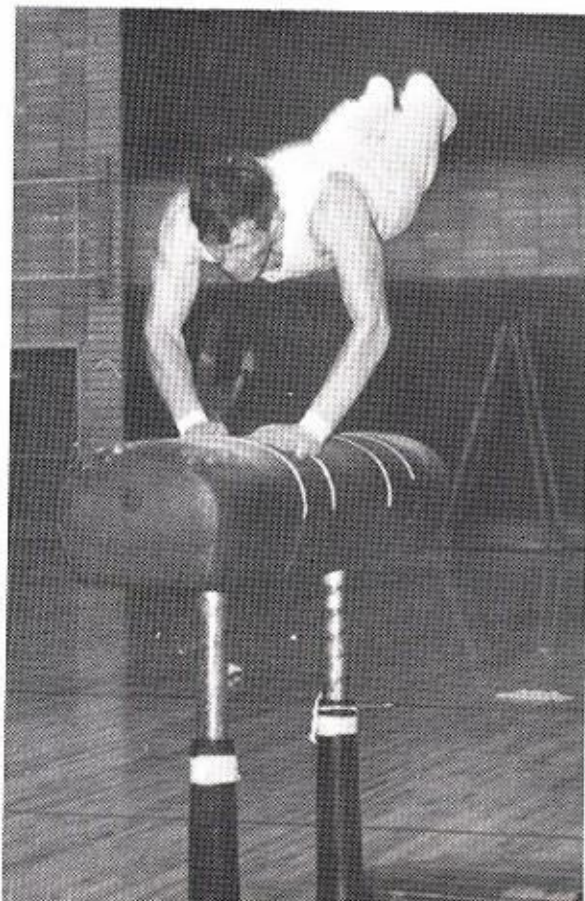

This year's team consisted of five seniors and four juniors, all returning lettermen with prominent futures in this new field.

TENNIS: DIVIDED SEASON SPLITS GIRLS IN RAIN AND MUD AND BOYS IN SUNSHINE.

GIRLS TENNIS

The tennis teams were split up this year into a girls' tennis team and a boys' tennis. The girls' team turned out during the fall while the boys turned out during the spring. There were seven girls on the team this year and their coach was Mrs. Norma Busby. Debbie Hastings was elected inspirational, player and Sharynn Freiheit was captain.

Below Right: President Sharynn Freiheit displays almost perfect form as she throws for a strike. Below: An exhausted group of members await their next turn.

The Girl's Athletic Association gave girls a chance to participate in an organized sports program. Also, they were able to compete with girls from surrounding areas by means of sports days and tournaments. These active girls played volleyball and badminton in the gymnasium, bowled at Issaquah's Hi-Ten Bowl, and swam at Si View Pool. When weather permitted, they played softball. This gave several girls enough points to earn a G.A.A. letter, thus showing interest in athletics and group participation to build strength and character. This year's officers were Sharynn Freiheit, President; Janet Yourgliche, Vice-President; Wendy Lider, Secretary; Judy Riggs, Publicity Manager; and Janice Jarvinen, Pointskeeper.

ADVERTISEMENTS: NEW CONSTRUCTION ESSENTIAL TO COMMUNITY GROWTH

The architectural drawing includes the new additions and alterations that will provide added room and facilities for future IHS students. Young Richardson and Carlton, the architectural engineers awarded the contract, donated $35 to the annual staff.

NEW ADDITIONS

Bids for construction of the new additions to the school began Thursday, January 6. The construction contract was awarded to the Prime Construction Company and the plans for this new addition were drawn by Young, Richardson, and Carlton of Seattle.

The additions will include three language arts rooms; also an additional classroom will be extended off A and B buildings. Three mathematics and two social studies classrooms, and a language, chemistry, and biology lab will also be added.

A special team teaching room, a new art room and metal shop, an additional band room and girls gym will be added, also. The office will be extended into the wall and a Senior Court will be built when the edifices are completed. These new additions will give Issaquah High School a 1300 student capacity.

NEW GRANDSTAND

Earlier this year another construction project was completed, our new Grandstand. Members of the community and student projects donated money to the Grandstand fund, but, without the well organized legislation backing the stands, the needed votes for financial support wouldn't have been realized even on the second voting attempt.

The new Grandstand stood tall and intact, but not completely done or painted by the second home football game of the season with Newport High School. During the Homecoming game and half-time show, many fancy-haired and pretty dressed girls were grateful for the shelter from the pouring rain.

The dedication ceremonies for the new edifice were held at the football game when the Issaquah Indians trounced the Sammamish team by a score of 35-0, a fitting tribute to the new Grandstand!

Presently, the Grandstand stands awaiting another action-packed football season as a symbol of student, administration, community, and sportsman support.
